

48. Securing of berthed vessel

- (1) The Master of a vessel must not moor or fasten the vessel to any part of a Berth other than the bollards or other securing places provided for that purpose.
- (2) The Master of a vessel must ensure that, whilst in Berth, his or her vessel is properly moored, fastened or anchored as the case requires and that the lines are kept tight and secure at all times.
- (3) A Master who contravenes this by-law commits an offence.
