

2. Powers and duties of Civil Court and Advocate-General

And be it enacted, that all and every the powers and duties conferred and imposed in and by any of the aforesaid Acts on the Court of Chancery in England shall be exercised and discharged by the Civil Court of this Colony; and that the functions ascribed by any of the said Acts to the Attorney-General in England shall be discharged by the Advocate-General in this Colony.