ANNO TRICESIMO QUARTO

VICTORIÆ REGINÆ.

No. XXIII.

AN ACT to amend the "Scab-in-Sheep Ordinance, 1866."
[16th January, 1871.]

WHEREAS, by the eighth Section of the "Scab-in-Sheep Ordinance, 1866," it is, among other things, enacted that any Inspector, on being satisfied that infection exists among any sheep, shall issue as of course to the owner of such sheep a compulsory license to keep such infected sheep, for the purpose of cleansing the same, in quarantine for six months, or until declared to be clean; and whereas it is advisable that the term of such compulsory license should be reduced to two months; Be it therefore enacted, by His Excellency the Governor of Western Australia and its Dependencies, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, and by authority of the same, as follows:—

Preamble.

1 THAT from and after the date on which this Act comes into operation, the compulsory license to keep sheep in quarantine

Compulsory license to keep sheep in quarantine.
