(6) The Supreme Court or The District Court of Western Australia has, in all cases where a child is before that Court, all the powers of a Children's Court in all respects as if the child had been before such a court and, in passing sentence upon a child who is before that Court pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, in respect of an indictable offence, may impose any penalty or disqualification or make any order or direction that—

- (a) may be imposed or made with respect to a person over the age of eighteen years who has been convicted on indictment of that indictable offence; or
- (b) may be imposed or made by a Children's Court under this Act.

(7) Where it is provided by any other Act that a person, instead of appearing before justices on a complaint of a simple offence, may elect to suffer a prescribed monetary penalty in respect of that offence, then, notwithstanding anything in this Act, a child may so elect.
