HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following
 Sailing Directions for the Challenger
 Passage between Garden Island and Carnac

By His Excellency's command,
 W. A. SANFORD,
 Colonial Secretary.

Sailing Directions for the Challenger
 Passage between Garden Island and Carnac.

A VESSEL approaching the above Passage from the Westward, must avoid the Casuarina Shoal lying  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles magnetic West  $\frac{1}{2}$  North from the North-West extremity of Garden Island, and Seaward Reef which lies  $3\frac{1}{4}$  miles magnetic West

$\frac{1}{2}$  North from North-West extremity of Carnac Island. The least water on these dangers is 7 to 8 feet at low tides, and the Channel between them is  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles wide, with not less than  $4\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms water on the Five-fathom Bank which connects them

The best passage about midway between them will be found by keeping Brown Hill (on the eastern shore of Cockburn Sound) a very little open of the North-East point of Garden Island, bearing magnetic East by South  $\frac{1}{2}$  South, until the spar beacons on the Challenger and Stag rocks are seen. Then steer Eastward for the former which is the outermost of the two; bring the two in a line with each other and with Brown Hill bearing magnetic E.S.E.; pass 30 to 50 yards N. of both, and keep them in a line astern until the Mewstone is seen round the E. side of Carnac, when you will be clear of all the dangers in the Challenger Passage, and may haul up N. by E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  E. by compass to pass over the deepest part of the Parmelia Bank. To do this keep the Haycock astern, over the eastern foot of a low Flat Hill near the N.E. point of Garden Island, magnetic S. by W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  W. This will carry you half-a-mile Eastward of Carnac, over the narrowest and deepest part of Parmelia Bank, in least water  $2\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms. When this deepens to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms steer N. by W. until the N.W. extremity of Garden Island is in line with the S.E. extremity of the small Island close to South end of Carnac. This leading mark will conduct over the deepest part of the Success Bank, in least water 3 fathoms; when this deepens to 4 or 5 fathoms an Easterly course may be taken towards the Light-house at Fremantle, for anchorage in Gage's Roads.

A ship bound for the anchorage under Garden Island instead of Gage's Roads, must prolong the foregoing Easterly course with the Challenger and Stag Beacons in a line astern, until the largest Straggler Rock is seen round the E. side of Carnac; she will then be clear of the extremity of a sandy spit of 3 fathoms, which extends  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a mile E. and N.E. from the N.E. point of Garden Island, and may steer to the Southward for anchorage in Cockburn Sound.

In conducting a vessel to sea by the Challenger Passage, the above directions must be reversed, and a W. by N. course prolonged for 3 miles beyond the Challenger Beacon when Buckland Hill will be seen over the Mewstone Rock, the water will deepen quickly from 5 to 10 and 15 fathoms, and she will be seaward of all the dangers.

J. S. ROE,
Surveyor General.
