WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

Regulations for the Better Organisation and the Classification and Payment of the Government Railways Service.

IN THE MATTER OF "The Railways Amendment Act, 1879" (43 Vict., No. 10) and the 55 Vict., 34.

IN pursuance of the powers conferred by "The Railways Amendment Act, 1879" (43 Vict., No. 10), and an Act intituled "An Act to further amend the Railways Act, 1878" (55 Vict., No. 34), and of every other power and authority enabling me in that behalf, I, Frederick Henry Piesse, Commissioner of Railways for the Colony of Western Australia, with the approval of the Governor in Executive Council, hereby make the following Regulations, which shall supersede the Regulations issued on the 6th day of July, 1892.

CONDITIONS OF SERVICE APPLICABLE TO THE WHOLE STAFF.

1. No person over the age of thirty-five (35) years shall be permanently appointed to any grade in the Railway Service without the special authority of the Commissioner of Railways; and no one having once left the Service (otherwise than in consequence of reduction in Staff) will be re-admitted except upon similar authority.

2. Applicants should send their applications to the head of the branch in which they desire employment.

The applications to be accompanied by not less than three testimonials of character, one of which should be from the last employer if applicants have been previously employed.

3. Candidates may be required, by a Board of Examiners, to undergo an examination such as may from time to time be prescribed by the Commissioner of Railways for the class of service for which the candidates apply.

4. The Board of Examiners shall consist of the General Traffic Manager, the Engineer-in-Charge of Existing Lines, and the Locomotive Superintendent. Two to be a quorum.

5. All appointments will be made on probation only. After a period of probation, and upon production of certificates of fitness from the Officers at the head of the respective branches in which probationers are employed, the Commissioner of Railways may make the appointments permanent.

6. It will be necessary that every probationer, before being permanently appointed, shall produce a certificate from a registered medical practitioner of Western Australia that he is in sound bodily health and free from mental infirmity, and that his eyesight and hearing are perfect.

7. Every employé in the Railway Department will hold his appointment conditionally on his being subject to and strictly observing the Rules and Regulations established from time to time for his guidance, whether published with the General Rules and Regulations or otherwise: and every employé must consider all rules of general application equally as binding upon him as those specially pertaining to his own particular position or duties.

8. Promotion and increases of pay in all grades of the several branches will be made, except where scales are in operation, according to merit and subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Railways, on the recommendation of the heads of the branches interested, and accompanied by a certificate of good conduct and efficiency.

9. The annual advances of pay, where scales are in operation, will be dependent and continued upon a certificate of efficiency and good conduct being given.

10. No employé will be permitted, unless under very exceptional circumstances, and then only on special authority from the Commissioner of Railways, to engage in any business or employment outside the duties of his office.

11. All employés in the Railway Service shall retire from the service at the age of sixty years. The Commissioner of Railways may, however, if he thinks fit, and with the consent of the parties interested, require any of the employés to continue in the service after the age of sixty years, if it appears that their retention would be of advantage to the service.

12. Sons of employés in the Railway Service are not to be employed at stations or in offices where their fathers are engaged, except in the case of youths receiving salaries reaching £80 per annum, who, when their salaries exceed that amount, shall be removed to some other stations or offices.

13. The Commissioner of Railways may transfer any employé from one branch of the service to another.

14. Employés shall repair to any part of the line where they may be ordered by a superior officer.

15. No person in the permanent employment of the Commissioner of Railways will be allowed to leave the service until the expiration of fourteen days' notice, unless with the consent of the head of the branch in which he is employed. Notice of resignation must be given in writing; and a similar notice will be given to those whose services are no longer required, except in the case of any employé dismissed for breach or neglect of duty.

16. No permanent employé shall be dismissed without the consent of the Commissioner being first obtained.

In the event, however, of gross neglect of duty or insubordination, or drunkenness, or such like, such employé can be suspended as hitherto, pending the Commissioner's decision as to whether he be finally dismissed or not.

17. The term "permanent employé" herein is to be understood to mean any employé who has been engaged for continuous service, and whose appointment has been approved by the Commissioner, as distinct from persons engaged for merely temporary service. The latter can, of course, be discharged or dismissed at any time by the officer who engaged them, without reference to the Minister.

18. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, the Commissioner of Railways shall have power to appoint to any position or grade, if he thinks fit, and without the examination herein mentioned, any person of known ability or possessing special qualifications.

19. Annual leave will be granted, at times convenient to the department, to all permanent employés who have been in the service for twelve months and upwards. (See Regulation No. 23 for details.)
