20. (a) The period of disqualification under subsection (4) of section 10 or under subsection (3) of section 12 (as the case may be) shall be determined as follows:—The period shall be the period during which, if a pension had been awarded and paid as from the date upon which compensation in respect of the injury to or death of the mine worker (as the case may be) becomes payable, the total sum paid to the mine worker or the dependant as pension (including any additional amount in respect of dependants) would have been equal to that part of the damages which is apportioned by the Court before which the damages are recovered as compensation for such injury or death.

(b) Where the mine worker would be entitled to damages independently of the Workers' Compensation Act, 1912-1941, the disqualification shall continue until he makes a claim for such damages, and thereafter until such disqualification ceases to have effect pursuant to clause (a) of this regulation.

Payment of Pensions.

21. (a) The date from which a pension under the Act shall commence shall be either—(i) The day following the date of retirement or death, or (ii) The day following the date of expiration of the period equivalent to paid leave granted to a mine worker or his dependants before or after the date of retirement or the date of death (as the case may be) and/or the date of expiration of the period of disqualification prescribed in section 10 or section 12 of the Act, whichever date is the later.

(b) Where a mine worker has been granted a pension and is re-employed as a mine worker the pension payable to such mine worker shall be cancelled for the period he is so employed and contributions shall be payable for such period.

(c) Pensions shall be payable in each alternate week on such day as the Tribunal may from time to time determine.

(d) The amount of pension in respect of one day shall be one-twelfth of the fortnightly amount of such pension.

(e) Pensions shall be paid by means of cheques crossed "not negotiable" and made payable to order.

Change of Address of Pensioner.

22. Any person to whom a pension has been awarded shall within three days after any change in his address notify the Tribunal of such change of address and of the address to which all payments and communications should in future be addressed.

PART IV.

The Fund.

23. Debits against the Fund shall be made only upon the certification of the Chairman or other Certifying Officer of the Tribunal. Payments from the Fund shall be by cheques signed by the officers of the Treasury Department who are from time to time authorised to sign cheques.

PART V.

Contributions—Estimate of Requirements.

24. Before the Tribunal makes an estimate of the amount required by the Fund as specified in section 21 of the Act, the Government Actuary for the time being shall furnish to the Tribunal not later than the 28th day of February in each year an estimate of the amount which he considers should be provided as a reserve in connection with the Fund for such period, and the Tribunal shall take into consideration such estimate when making the estimate for such period.

Basis of Assessment of Contributions by Individual Mine Owners.

25. The basis upon which the contributions of individual owners shall be assessed shall be as follows:—Each owner shall for any year for which the Tribunal has estimated the total amount of contributions necessary to be paid to the Tribunal pay twice the amount of the contributions payable by the mine workers employed by such owner in such year.

Manner of Payment of Contributions by Individual Mine Owners.

26. (a) Within three days (or such further time as the Tribunal may approve) after each pay-day on which in accordance with the notification received by him from the Tribunal under regulation 23 he is required to deduct from each mine worker employed by him the amount of such mine worker's contribution, every owner shall forward to the Tribunal an amount equal to twice the total of the contributions paid for each such fortnight by the mine workers employed by him in that fortnight. The first of such pay-days shall be the seventh day of July, 1944.

Basis of Assessment of Contributions by Individual Mine Workers.

27. The basis upon which the contributions of individual mine workers shall be assessed shall be as follows:—The Tribunal shall as soon as practicable after making in pursuance of section 21 of the Act an estimate of the amount required by the Fund for any period as prescribed by the said section 21 determine the average number of mine workers who were employed by all owners during the 12 months ended on the 31st day of December immediately preceding that period. The amount of the contributions payable under the Act by all mine workers during that period shall be divided by the said determined average number of mine workers, and the figure arrived at shall, subject to Regulation 28 (a), be the contribution payable by each individual mine worker during that period.

Manner of Payment of Contributions by Individual Mine Workers.

28. (a) All contributions of mine workers shall be payable by fortnightly instalments and the amount of each fortnightly instalment shall be the amount ascertained by dividing the amount of the contribution payable by a mine worker during any period by the number of complete fortnights in that period: Provided that if the amount so ascertained is not comprised of an equal number of three-pences the amount shall be increased to the next three-pence.

(b) The Tribunal as soon as practicable after the determination by the Tribunal of the contribution payable by each individual mine worker during any period shall notify each owner in writing of the amount thereof, the amount of the said fortnightly instalments and the period during which such contribution and fortnightly instalments shall be payable by individual mine workers.

(c) The amount of the fortnightly instalments from time to time payable by each individual mine worker, so assessed and notified by the Tribunal shall be deducted by each owner on each pay-day from the amount payable by such owner to any mine worker employed by him, the first of such deductions to be made from the wages paid on the seventh day of July, 1944.

(d) Within three days (or such further time as the Tribunal may approve) after the deduction by any owner of the amount of any fortnightly instalment payable by a mine worker, such owner shall complete and forward to the Tribunal a return of mine workers' contributions in such form as the Tribunal shall direct and shall with such return forward to the Tribunal all instalments of mine workers' contributions deducted or collected by him.

(e) Where a person, after the commencement of Part IV of the Act, is employed as a mine worker, the initial contribution payable by such mine worker shall be for the full period of the pension fortnight in which his employment commences.

(f) Before a pension under the Act shall become payable, contributions shall be paid by a mine worker up to and including the pension fortnight immediately preceding the pension fortnight in which the commencing date of the pension falls; Provided that, in the case of the death of a mine worker, contributions shall not be payable after the pension fortnight immediately preceding the pension fortnight in which the death of such mine worker occurred.

Unpaid Contributions due by Mine Workers.

29. Where through no fault of a mine worker his contributions fall into arrear, the Tribunal on his application may permit the amount of such arrears to be paid in instalments or in such other manner as it may determine and the Owner shall deduct the whole or such portion of the arrears as authorised by the Tribunal from the amount payable to such mine worker on one or more pay-days.

Payment of Contributions by Unemployed Mine Workers.

30. Any mine worker shall, during any period he is not employed as a mine worker, pay to the owner by whom he was employed immediately prior to his becoming unemployed as a mine worker the fortnightly instalments payable by such mine worker in pursuance of the Act and these regulations.

PART VI.

Miscellaneous—Penalty for Breach of Regulations.

31. Any owner, mine worker or other person who fails, neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of these regulations or any of them shall be guilty of a breach of these regulations and shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds.

Forms.

32. The forms set forth in the Appendix to these regulations with such modifications as the circumstances may require shall be used for the purpose for which the same are respectively applicable: Provided that no form shall be deemed to be invalid if it is to the effect of the prescribed form with such modifications as the circumstances may require.
