SALARIES AND ALLOWANCES TRIBUNAL ACT, 1975

DETERMINATION OF THE SALARIES AND ALLOWANCES TRIBUNAL

(27th FEBRUARY, 1976)

Mr. F. S. Cross, J.P.	.....	MEMBER

DETERMINATION OF THE SALARIES AND ALLOWANCES TRIBUNAL (27th FEBRUARY, 1976)

SALARIES

1. In our Determination of 15 October 1975, we increased the salaries of Members of Parliament, Stipendiary Magistrates, Special Division Officers of the Public Service and persons holding Prescribed Offices by 3·5 per cent which was equivalent to the increase in the Consumer Price Index in the June 1975 quarter and to the adjustment made to award rates by the Australian Conciliation and Arbitration Commission in its Judgment of 18 September 1975.

2. Salaries and wages prescribed in the awards and determinations before the Australian Conciliation and Arbitration Commission, were further increased as from the beginning of the first pay period commencing on or after 15 February 1976, by 6·4 per cent being the increase in the Consumer Price Index of 0·8 per cent for September 1975 quarter and 5·6 per cent for December 1975 quarter.

3. The decision to increase award rates and salaries by 6·4 per cent was taken by the Commission after considering submissions from the unions, private employers, the Commonwealth and the States and therefore, we see no reason why this increase should not be passed on to salary earners within our jurisdiction.

4. Accordingly, the rates per annum of salary resulting from our Determination of 15 October 1975 are to be increased by 6·4 per cent on and from 1 March 1976.

ELECTORATE ALLOWANCES—MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

5. In our Determination of 8 August 1975 we referred to “some dissatisfaction with the existing structure of electorate allowances” and indicated our intention to continue with inquiries into these payments. To this end a questionnaire was sent to all Members of Parliament seeking full details of expenses involved in serving the community within their respective electorates.

6. Replies to the questionnaire reveal that expense under various headings varies considerably even between electorates of comparable size and population but nevertheless, the information supplied was useful in forming a judgment on the provisions which should be made to cover expense reasonably and properly incurred in the performance of a member’s parliamentary duties.

7. The main elements of expense incurred by members are motor vehicle costs (except where a car is provided at Government expense), accommodation expenses, telephone and telegram charges not otherwise reimbursed, donations and subscriptions, hospitality and sundry out-of-pocket expenses. In the case of motor vehicle costs and accommodation expenses particularly, it is apparent that distance from Perth and the size of an electorate will have a bearing on the level of expense which individual members must necessarily incur.

8. In order to allow sufficient scope for recognition of differences between electorates, we have found it necessary to increase the number of zones or groups for Council provinces from four to six and in the case of Assembly districts from four to eight. We have thereby abandoned for the purpose of determining allowances, the previous Tribunal’s method of placing districts in the same group as the province within which they fell because we believe that such a method gives rise to inequities.

9. We have also amended the system used by the previous Tribunal to calculate loadings for Council provinces (paragraph 31 of its 1974 Report), by applying a flat loading of $600 to all provinces in lieu of a percentage allowance based on the number of districts within a province.

TRAVELLING ALLOWANCES—MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

10. Under the provisions of Part V of our Determination of 8 August 1975, Ministers and certain other Members of Parliament are entitled to travelling allowances at specified rates when travelling on duty within Australia. It has been decided that these allowances shall not apply to travel to, from and within such members’ own electorates as provision has been made for travelling expenses including accommodation costs where appropriate, in the determination of prescribed electorate allowances.

TRAVEL CONCESSIONS—MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT

11. In the 1974 Report of the Parliamentary Salaries Tribunal the general matter of air travel and the "Gold Pass" system was discussed. Although the Tribunal believed it was within its competence to take over the control of members' air travel and road and rail travel as being emoluments within the meaning of the Act, it decided not to do so for the present and contented itself by recommending to the Government that:—

- (a) the "Gold Pass" system be extended to free travel on metropolitan bus services conducted by the Metropolitan (Perth) Passenger Trust.
- (b) the unlimited air travel available to North West members as regards travel to, from and within their electorates and the four return trips a year to the south for their wives, be extended to all members representing electorates within the State served by a regular public scheduled air service subject to such travel not including travel between Perth and any point within 100 miles thereof.
- (c) Members be allowed two return flights per annum to any part of the State other than their electorates or one flight with wife, with 10 days travel allowance at the rate applicable to a Minister.

The Government has approved recommendations (a) and (b) but in the case of (c), has limited the concession to one flight per member each three years on a non-cumulative basis, with 10 days travel allowance.

12. In view of the action taken by the Government, we do not propose at this time to include travel concessions in our Determinations. Indeed, we incline to the view that as these concessions have been administered by the Government in the past, it would be preferable for the Government to continue adjudicating in this field.

SECRETARIES OF PARLIAMENTARY PARTIES

13. A submission has been made to us that we should recommend an amendment to the Act to make parliamentary party secretaries, Officers of Parliament, so that we could consider payment of extra remuneration to them. In our opinion, this is a matter which the Government is in a better position to judge in the light of its knowledge of the duties required of these members and accordingly, we believe that any amendment to the Act along the lines suggested, should be considered by the Government.

ANNUAL LEAVE LOADING

14. The Parliamentary Labor Party has sought the extension to Members of Parliament, of the annual leave loading payable to a high proportion of wage and salary earners in Australia.

15. Annual leave loadings were introduced originally by industrial tribunals mainly as compensation for over-award payments and overtime earnings which were denied to employees whilst on leave but these loadings have since been extended to others who normally do not receive over-award or overtime payments. For example, public servants and teachers in the employ of the State Government now benefit from these payments.

16. Although the original basis for granting loadings has been departed from, we do not consider that these payments should be extended to Members of Parliament. They are not State Government employees and their conditions of service in regard to hours of duty, leave entitlements and other benefits are completely different from those prescribed for public servants and others employed by the State. The fact that a particular benefit applies to one group and not another does not in our opinion, establish a case for the general application of that benefit.

DETERMINATION

17. Our attached Determination which is in two Schedules comes into operation on 1 March 1976 and accordingly, our Determinations of 8 August 1975 and 15 October 1975 are revoked on and from that date.

Dated at Perth this 27th day of February 1976.
