Hearing of disputes

If a dispute between an owner and a tenant has to be decided by a court it has to be dealt with by a court that has jurisdiction to hear and determine the application. The Magistrates Court has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine applications relating to bonds under Schedule 1 clause 8 of the Act and other matters that do not involve a claim over $10 000. The matters it can hear and determine are minor cases and must be dealt with by the minor case procedure in the Magistrates Court.

If a person is claiming over $10 000, other than in an application relating to a bond referred to in the previous paragraph, the claim must be brought in a court, such as the Supreme Court, District Court or Magistrates Court, that is competent to hear and determine a claim founded on contract for the amount of the claim. If the claim is dealt with in the Magistrates Court, the parties to the application may consent in writing (which consent is irrevocable) to the proceedings being heard and determined by the minor case procedure.
