- (4) In Schedule 1 Appendix 1 before the heading “If paid/when paid’ Banned” insert:

Minimum notice period

Where an owner-driver contract contains a provision that purports to allow a party to terminate the contract by giving notice of less than the minimum notice period, the Act provides that the provision has no effect.

The notice period is the period beginning on the day on which one party gives the other party written notice of termination of the contract and ending on the day on which the termination of the contract is to take effect.

The minimum notice period is 90 days. However, the minimum notice period of 90 days does not apply where the aggregate term of the original contract and any consecutive series of successive contracts between the same parties that contain substantially similar terms and conditions is less than 90 days. In that case the minimum notice period is 7 days.

Where an owner-driver contract does not have a valid provision about the notice period, the Act implies the following terms into the contract.

A party may terminate the contract by giving the other party written notice of the termination that states the day on which notice is given and the day on which the termination of the contract is to take effect. The notice has no effect if the notice period is less than the minimum notice period unless one of the following applies:

- The contract is terminated due to —
 - a material breach of the contract; or
 - the serious and wilful misconduct of the owner-driver; or
 - exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the terminating party that were not reasonably foreseeable at the time of entering into the contract.

- The hirer terminates the contract immediately by paying the owner-driver the total amount that would be payable under the contract in respect of the minimum notice period, less 25%.
 - The hirer terminates the contract and gives a period of notice that is less than the minimum notice period and pays the owner-driver both —
 - the amount payable for work performed by the owner-driver during the notice period; and
 - the amount that would be payable under the contract in respect of the balance of the minimum notice period, less 25%.
- (5) In Schedule 1 Appendix 1 under the heading “Unconscionable Conduct Banned” after the 3rd bullet point insert:
- Whether any term of the owner-driver contract is an unfair term, including the following —
 - whether the term causes a significant imbalance in the parties’ rights and obligations arising under the contract;
 - whether the term is reasonably necessary in order to protect the legitimate interests of a party;
 - whether the term would cause significant detriment (financial or otherwise) to a party if it were to be applied or relied on;
 - whether the term provides for the payment by the hirer to the owner-driver of the guideline rate.

- (6) In Schedule 1 Appendix 1 before “Disclaimer:” insert:

Misleading or Deceptive Conduct Banned

The Act prohibits hirers and owner-drivers from engaging in conduct that is misleading or deceptive, or is likely to mislead or deceive, during the negotiation of owner-driver contracts.

Discrimination Banned

The Act prohibits a hirer from causing detriment to an owner-driver for the reasons set out in the Act. The reasons include:

- The owner-driver has claimed, or proposes to claim, a benefit or exercised, or proposes to exercise, a power or right that the owner-driver or a person associated with the owner-driver is entitled to claim or exercise under the Act or the Code of Conduct.
- The owner-driver has brought, or proposes to bring, or has otherwise participated in, a proceeding under the Act.

- The owner-driver has informed, or proposes to inform, any person of an alleged contravention of this Act, the Code of Conduct or an order of the Tribunal under the Act.
- The owner-driver has participated, or proposes to participate, in joint negotiations relating to owner-driver contracts or the engagement of an owner-driver.
- The owner-driver has raised, or proposes to raise, issues of health and safety in relation to the performance of services under an owner-driver contract.
