INTRODUCTION.

THIS Index owes its inception to a long-felt need for a systematic record of the official notifications gazetted in Western Australia before 1891. It is now issued in the hope that it may prove generally useful, both as a work of reference and as a contribution to the study of Colonial administrative methods.

The period 1836 to 1890 was selected for consolidated treatment, as it was virtually coincident with the era of Crown Colony Government. The Swan River Settlement was founded in 1829: but the Gazette itself was not instituted till 1836, the official announcements of the previous years having been published in a Perth newspaper.

The undertaking was authorised in October, 1897, by the then Premier, Sir John Forrest. Although the compilation was begun shortly after, its progress remained, owing to the interpolation of other work, more or less at a standstill for about eighteen months; so that the time actually occupied in its production has been a little over four years. As indicating the difficulties that have retarded its completion, the following points may be mentioned:—the absence of any similar publication in connection with any other part of the colonial world which would have served as a guide; the frequent occurrence in the Gazette, down to a comparatively recent date, of uncorrected errors and misprints; the erratic system of paging which prevailed to the end of 1870, necessitating the employment in the Index of two different methods of reference; and the incomplete nature of the particular files, on which the compilation has been mainly based.

The foundation of the work has been the collection of Gazettes forming part of the Colonial Office Library, supplemented by a number of volumes belonging to the Agent-General's Department. But missing pages were so frequently met with in both these collections, that it became necessary on more than one occasion to refer to Perth for farther information. Nor has absolute completeness proved attainable even by this means, as it was found impossible to obtain access, even in Western Australia, to any copies of the Issues and Supplements specified in the list given below. Responsibility must accordingly be disclaimed for whatever lacunæ in the Index may be due to this cause. But with this limitation, and the class of exceptions particularised on page 13, every announcement that has appeared in the Gazette has been classified and entered (in a large number of cases under two and even three different headings), and wherever possible the legal authority has been quoted.

As regards the general arrangement, it will be observed that the method pursued differs very considerably from that usually associated with a dictionary index. This has been due to the fact that the compilation was designed chiefly as an administrative record, and only in a secondary sense as a work of reference for the casual searcher. For the same reason, the names of persons and of places do not appear as substantive headings. Exception may also be taken to the fact that a great many of the entries, as expressed, appear to err on the side of excess of detail, and even of verbiage. This has sprung from the desire to enable the searcher, as far as possible, to grasp the sense of every announcement from the entry relating to it, and without having actually to consult the Gazette, as copies of the latter are not always easy of access.

It remains to acknowledge with many thanks the courtesy of the Colonial Office authorities in permitting the use of their volumes both at Downing Street and at the Public Record Office. Thanks are also due and are herewith tendered to Mr. O. Burt, late Under-Secretary, and Mr. Battye, of the Victoria Public Library, for the contributions respectively forwarded by them from Perth, in the form either of type-written copies of the Issues missing here or of entries made direct from the local collections. And last, but not least, to Messrs. Clowes & Sons for the patience, thoroughness, and care with which they have carried out their part in the production of the book.

Lands and Surveys, Public:

[Note: The Notifications in the Gazette relating to this subject are of three distinct Classes, viz.:—

- (a) Those declaring the unimpaired paramount rights of the Crown over all the land comprised in the Territory of the Colony (i.e., Original Crown Rights of Property as defined by Crown Lands' Law);
- (b) Those declaring the paramount rights of the Crown as affected by the variously limited rights of Private Persons over portions of the land, arising from the operation of the Laws relating to Crown Lands (i.e., Derivative Private Rights of Property resulting from the Administration of Crown Lands' Law);
- (c) Those declaring the rights of certain specified individuals to Administer the Laws relating to Crown Lands in certain specified capacities (i.e., Public Service Rights in relation to the Administration of Crown Lands' Law).

Although a distribution of the Entries based on the Notifications, in groups corresponding to these three Classes, would have been the ideal arrangement, the preponderance of certain varieties appropriate to Class (a) has necessitated a different disposition of matter, which may be described as follows:—

Class (a) appears mainly in Section (iii); but certain specific kinds of announcement have been constituted distinct sections, viz., (ii) Land Sales (Lands Offered for Sale by Auction on specified dates); (iv) Public Reserves (Appropriations, Boundaries, and Cancellations); (v) Public Reserves (Vesting and Control); and (vi) Town and Suburban Lands (Designations, Boundaries, and Offers for Purchase). All the remaining entries belonging to Class (a) appear in Section (iii), which embodies the substantive Law of Crown Lands, treated historically. In addition, at stages indicated in the text of this Section, certain other branches of the subject (e.g., Cemeteries, Forests, Guano, Mining) have been constituted independent headings in the Index, in harmony with administrative developments.

Class (b) also has been placed in Section (iii), in immediate proximity to the more or less tentative rules and regulations on which the notifications of this class are founded.

Class (c) has been constituted Section (i).

Finally, it may be mentioned that, in order to facilitate discrimination between the various branches of the subject covered by Section (iii), certain distinguishing letters and marks have been inserted in the margin. What these marks and letters severally represent is described in the preliminary note prefixed to the Section itself.]

- (2) Reserves Declared, pursuant to Land Regulations of 1872, et seq.:
- (a) Localities and Purposes:
- [In the following Table, the references given deal mainly with the original Acts of Appropriation (Definitions of Boundaries and Declarations of Purpose): but, in addition, whenever a Change of Purpose has been gazetted, the announcement has been indexed, with a distinguishing mark (†) prefixed to the reference. Any other developments in the history of a particular Reserve (e.g., Amendment of Boundaries; Cancellation in whole or in part; etc.) may be traced by consulting the list of Numbered Reserves given below (b).]
- Denominational Cemeteries are given under "Church," and not under "Cemeteries."
- Reserves for "Water" situated outside of Townsites and Suburban Areas are given under "Travellers and Stock."
- The Vesting and Control of Reserves is dealt with in Section (v).
- Temporary Quarantine Reserves declared under the "Imported Stock Act, 1876" (40 V. 14), &c., are dealt with under—Stock.]

(i) PUBLIC SERVICE RECORD :

Note: The names and entries in the following list deal mainly with the service records of Officials of the Colonial Government Service—i.e., of the persons who were gazetted from time to time as appointed to, or as holding office in some Public Department of the Civil Administration, under the direct authority of the Secretary of State or of the Governor-in-Council. In addition, the names and services of non-officials have been incorporated, whenever these were gazetted in connection with some Commission, or Central Board or Committee, constituted with reference to any matter affecting the Colony as a whole. Justices of the Peace have, for reasons of convenience, been dealt with separately in pp. 50–53. But the services of persons appointed by the Governor-in-Council to act on purely Local Boards (e.g., Education; Health), or of Officers appointed by Local (Elective) Authorities (e.g., District Roads Boards; Municipalities) are not recorded in this list.]
