THE following notices to Mariners are published for general information.

BEACON ON THE WOLFE ROCK.

*Trinity House, London,
July 21, 1840.*

The corporation of Trinity House have much satisfaction in stating, for the information of Masters of Vessels and mariners in general, that the difficult and hazardous works which have, during the last four summers, been in operation, under their direction, for constructing a beacon upon that dangerous rock called the Wolfe, situate about 7½ miles WSW of the Land's

End of Cornwall, have been completed, and that a conspicuous beacon has been erected thereon.

This beacon consists of an artificial cone bearing a mast, having a large ball upon its summit, at an elevation of thirty-six feet above the level of the sea at high water; and mariners are to observe, that spring tides rise at this station nineteen feet, and that at low water of those tides, the rock is uncovered to the height of 15 feet.

The bearings and distances of the under-mentioned objects from this beacon are as follows:—

Long Ship's light-house, NE by N, distant 7½ miles.

Scilly light-house, W by N½N, distant 21 miles.

Rundlestone Rock, which covers at half-flood, E by N½N, distant 7 miles.

Seven Stones, centre thereof, NW½N, distant 13½ miles.

Lizard light-house, SE by E½E, distant 23 miles.

It being of great importance that this Beacon should not sustain injury, masters of vessels and others are hereby cautioned and enjoined not to approach it on any consideration, lest their own safety, as well as the security of the structure should be thereby unnecessarily endangered.

*By order,
J. HERBERT, Secretary.*

LIGHT AT THE KENTISH KNOCK.

*Trinity House, London,
July 7, 1840.*

This Corporation having, in compliance with the request of the owners and masters of vessels interested in the navigation of the North Sea, caused a vessel to be prepared for exhibiting a light near the sand called the Kentish Knock; notice is hereby given that the said vessel will be stationed at the east side of the said sand, a short distance to the eastward of the situation in which the beacon-buoy now lies; and that the light on board the same will be exhibited on the evening of the 1st September next, and thenceforth continued every night from sunset to sunrise.

The light on board this vessel will be exhibited from a single lantern, it will revolve, and will burn at an elevation of 38 feet above the level of the sea.

Note—The Kentish Knock beacon-buoy will be taken away when the new light vessel is stationed, but the small watch-buoy will be continued.

*By order,
J. HERBERT, Secretary.*

*Trinity House, London,
August 13, 1840.*

A narrow channel having opened between Covehithe Point, on the coast of Suffolk, and the south end of the Barnard Sand, notice is hereby given that, in order to facilitate the passage of such vessels as may, under circumstances of emergency, be induced to avail themselves of this passage, the Corporation of Trinity House has caused two buoys to be placed in the following situations,—

A black beacon buoy, marked South Inner Barnard, on the inside of the south end of that sand, in 15 feet at low water, spring tides, and with the following marks and compass bearings;

The chimney of a farm house on the back land, just touching the outermost trees of Covehithe Wood, W by S.

Lowestoft church, its length open to the eastward of a gap in Kirkley Cliff, NNE.

South-west Barnard buoy, NE by E.

Southwold church, SW by W½W.

A striped white and black buoy, marked Covehithe Point, in 15 feet water off that Point, with the following marks and bearings:

A farm house on with the extreme end of Covehithe Wood, W by S½S.

Lowestoft church steeple on with the gap in Kirkley Cliff, N.N.E.½E.

Southwold church, S.W. by W.½W.

Covehithe church, W.N.W.

Kessingland church, north.

Note—The above buoys bear from each other W. by S.½S. and E. by N.½N, and the width of the channel is 180 fathoms.

*By order,
J. HERBERT, Secretary.*

LIGHT-HOUSE ON THE MAPLIN SAND.

*Trinity House, London,
Jan. 14, 1841.*

Notice is hereby given, that the Light House, which has been for some time past in course of erection upon the Maplin sand is nearly completed; and that the Light therein will be exhibited, for the first time, on the evening of Wednesday, the 10th February next; at which time the light hitherto shown on board of a vessel moored off the Sand, will be discontinued, and the vessel taken away.

Mariners are to observe, that this Light-house is erected upon the south-eastern projecting part of the sand, where it becomes dry, or nearly so, at low water, spring tides; and they are particularly cautioned and enjoined never, under any circumstances, either by night or by day, to attempt to cross the sand to the northward of the building.

Mariners are also to observe that, in this light-house, a fixed light, colored red, and visible in all directions, will be exhibited.

*By order,
J. HERBERT, Secretary.*

The Light kept open will lead clear of Reenadrolaan Point, and also of the Harbour Rock within the entrance.
