HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following Notice to Mariners respecting the Lighthouses at Port Phillip Heads in the Colony of Victoria.

By His Excellency's command,
FRED. P. BARLEE,
Colonial Secretary.

Lighthouses, Port Phillip Heads.

THE accompanying Notice to Mariners respecting alterations in the Lights at Port Phillip Heads, and Sailing Directions rendered necessary by the alterations in question, are published for general information.

ROBERT S. ANDERSON,
Commissioner of Trade and Customs.

Department of Trade and Customs,
Melbourne, 12th March, 1863.

NOTICE TO MARINERS. PORT PHILLIP HEADS LIGHTHOUSES.

Navigators are hereby informed that in accordance with a Notice to Mariners dated the 7th of December, 1862, the alterations in Shortland's Bluff and Swan Spit Lights, and the exhibition for the first time of a light on Point Lonsdale, as notified on the 3rd February, 1863, were carried into effect on the respective dates mentioned in such notices.

Consequent upon these changes, the following Sailing Directions are published for the guidance of vessels navigating the entrance to Port Phillip at night:—

Vessels from the southward and eastward will see the high light (fixed white) on a N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. bearing, and the white low light (fixed white and red) on a N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E. bearing; as they proceed to the N.W. to bring the two lights in one, the low light will change its color from white to red on a N.N.E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E. bearing.

Vessels from the southward and westward sighting the high light to the eastward of N.E. by E. should, to avoid the Barwon light, haul out to the eastward to open the low light, which will be first seen white on a N.E. by E. bearing, and as they proceed to bring the two lights in one the low light will change its color from white to red on a N.E.  $\frac{1}{4}$  E. bearing.

A reference to the chart will show that, as hitherto, the best and safest course between the heads is to keep the two Shortlands Bluff lights in one line on a N.E. and a S.W. by S. bearing; but should the wind become scant and the vessel compelled to make a tack when in the vicinity of the Corsair rock or the Point Lonsdale reef, these dangers will be avoided by vessels of light draught so long as the Shortlands Bluff low red light is kept in sight. Vessels so circumstanced must be careful to go about, or haul towards mid-channel before the low light changes from red to white.

The light (fixed red and green) on Point Lonsdale has been established to warn vessels entering or departing at night of their vicinity to, and when they are clear of, the Lonsdale and Ferguson rocks.

Vessels steering from sea for Port Phillip, and near the entrance, will first see the Point Lonsdale green light on a N.W. by N.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N. bearing, and so long as they have it full in view they are to seaward of the Lonsdale and Ferguson rocks; when the two colors, red and green, begin to blend, it indicates vicinity to the line which passes on a N.W. by W. bearing from the light over these dangers.

When the Lonsdale red light opens out full, vessels are inside of them; and when they shut it in on a W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  N. bearing, they are inside of the Corsair rock.

Vessels steering towards the West Channel will avoid the reef off Shortland's Bluff, and the bank between it and Swan Spit, and also clear the Royal George Sand, when in their vicinity, by not opening out the white light on the Swan Spit, but keeping the red light in sight until within three cables' length of it, when they will be above the Royal George buoy, and should haul to the eastward, and open the white light, giving the lighthouse a berth of three-quarters of a cable's length in passing.

Vessels navigating the South Channel are reminded that the low light on Shortland's Bluff now shows white from sea up the South Channel to the east end of Capel Sound.

Vessels below Capel Sound White Perch buoy will be aided in their passage up or down the South Channel and avoid the north sand by not shutting the light in, it being masked on a west by north bearing.

With the view of keeping the fairway to the West Channel clear, vessels of light draught are recommended when anchoring off Shortland's Bluff to bring up as close over towards the shore as possible on the N.W. side of the fairway indicated at night by the Swan Spit light changing from red to white on a N.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. bearing, and by day the Swan Spit Lighthouse just open E. of No. 1 Black buoy.

Vessels heavy draught should anchor on the S.E. side of the fairway, which is indicated at night by the Swan Spit light changing from red to white on a N.E.  $\frac{3}{4}$  N. bearing, and by day the Swanspit Lighthouse just open W. of No. 2 White Perch buoy.

Masters of vessels about to anchor at night off Shortland's Bluff are requested to note that the low light shuts in on a N. by W. bearing.

All bearings are magnetic.
