PERTH: TUESDAY, DECEMBER 25.

No. 1660.—C.S.O.

*Colonial Secretary's Office,
Perth, 24th December, 1883.*

IN pursuance of instructions contained in a Circular Despatch from the Right Honorable the Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated the 9th August, 1883, His Excellency the Governor directs the publication of the following Despatch for the guidance of Educational Officers in the Civil Service of the Colony, with regard to Vacation Leave under Section 133 of the Colonial Regulations.

By Command,
GEO. PHILLIPS,
Acting Colonial Secretary.

CIRCULAR.

Downing Street, 9th August, 1883.

SIR,—My attention has been called to the position of Educational Officers with regard to vacation leave under Section 133 of the Colonial Regulations; and I think it desirable, for the convenience of such Officers as well as of the Public Service, that the period of their vacation leave should correspond with the vacation of the Institutions in which they are employed, as in the case of Judicial Officers.

I request, therefore, that you will insert the following alteration in any copies of the Colonial Regulations in the possession of your Government, and inform the Officers affected by the change.

Instead of "any vacation not exceeding, in the case of Civil Officers, three months in any two years, or, in the case of Judicial functionaries the ordinary vacation of the Court to which such functionary may belong," insert "any vacation not exceeding, in the case of Judicial or Educational Officers, the ordinary vacation of the Court to which they belong, or the Institution in which they are employed, and, in the case of other Officers, not exceeding three months in any two years."

I have, &c.,

DERBY.

The Officer Administering the Government of Western Australia.

No. 1657.—C.S.O.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Perth, 22nd December, 1883.

THE following paper, which was read by the representative of this Colony (the Hon. M. Fraser, C.M.G.) at the recent Australasian Convention at Sydney, is published for general information.

By His Excellency's Command,
GEO. PHILLIPS,
Acting Colonial Secretary.

Notes on some undertakings of Federal Importance in Western Australia.

The commanding geographical position of Western Australia upon the seaboard of the continent nearest to India, to Europe, and to England, cannot fail to give that Colony a more important place in the Australian system of the future than its present resources and population would seem to indicate. The fortification of King George's Sound has lately been declared to be part of the general scheme of Continental defence, and this excellent harbour has for many years been the first and last port of call of the steamers of the Peninsular and Oriental Company, which carry the principal European mails of the Eastern Colonies. Since 1877, the arrival and departure of these mails has been notified to Adelaide, Melbourne, Sydney, and Brisbane by means of the Eucla telegraph, a work of Federal importance. The object of these notes, which I take the liberty of transmitting to the Australasian Convention through the representative of this Government, is to draw attention to some other West Australian undertakings, also of high intercolonial value.

The chief of these, and one which may be called a truly Federal work, is the projected Eucla railway, by which it is proposed to connect Fremantle with South Australia. The total length of this line will be 840 miles, of which a section of 90 miles, from Fremantle to York, is now in course of completion, and will shortly be open. The construction of the remaining 750 miles, with borrowed capital, would be an enterprise quite beyond the present resources of Western Australia, and would probably have to remain in abeyance until it could be undertaken by the Federal Government of the future, were it not for a proposal to proceed with it on the Land Grant System. A syndicate of capitalists now offers to build and work the entire railway, in consideration of a grant of 12,000 acres of land per mile. The scheme has been approved; and, if the syndicate be as prepared as would appear, the whole line may be completed in ten or twelve years. In conjunction with this railway, the West Australian Government propose to construct at Fremantle harbour works which will render that port safe and commodious for the largest steamers, and plans for these works have been prepared by Sir John Coode. The estimate of cost is £638,000 or £242,000, according as a larger or smaller scheme be adopted.

The continental advantage of this Eucla line of railway is so great and manifest that its construction, even should the present scheme fall through, can only be a matter of time. Coming first to Fremantle from Ceylon, the European mail steamers would reach Australia at a saving of three degrees of southing, and of about 300 miles of distance, as compared with the present arrival at King

George's Sound. Passengers landing at Fremantle would avoid the rough and cold weather of the voyage round the Leeuwin and across the Australian Bight; and both mails and passengers—presuming the railway to be continued from Eucla, in the same manner as the intercolonial telegraph, by the South Australian Government—would reach the Eastern Colonies from two to four days sooner than at present, after a land-journey through the most temperate regions of Australia. The time thus economised would be a most valuable saving in the business of the continent.

The West Australian Government have just taken a step which will, it is hoped, solve the difficulties arising out of the existing monopoly of the Eastern Telegraph Company. They have granted a concession to Sir Julius Vogel, for 21 years, for the laying of a Submarine Cable from a point on the North-west coast to Ceylon or Singapore. The inland lines of the Colony will in a few months form a second trans-continental telegraph, another work of intercolonial value. They will be completed over a distance of 2,113 miles, from Eucla to Roebourne, where the new cable will probably be landed. The distance from Roebourne to Ceylon is about 2,600 miles, to Singapore about 1,300 miles, and it is a condition of the concession that the cable is to be laid and ready for use within five years. It is scarcely necessary to point out that this additional submarine line will be of the highest advantage to all the Australian Colonies, placing them, as it will, in more certain, and probably considerably cheaper and speedier telegraphic communication with the world than at present.

Submarine Cable to Ceylon or Singapore.

A second trans-continental Telegraph.

In connection with the subject of telegraphs, it may be mentioned that the West Australian Government, having been in communication with the Committee of Lloyds' on the matter, are now laying a short submarine cable from Breaksea Island, off King George's Sound, to the main land. This signalling station will be very useful to Australian shipping, as Breaksea Island is the first land made after passing the Leeuwin.

Breaksea Island Cable and Signal Station.

A light of the first order, and an ocean signal station, on Cape Leeuwin itself would be most desirable, and a work of Federal importance. It would cost about £12,000. The West Australian Government have not felt justified in incurring this expense, since it considers that the cost of such a lighthouse should be contributed to by the other Colonies, or that the general boon to shipping would warrant, as in the case of the Great Basses and other lights, the levying of a due, guaranteed by Imperial and Local Acts. If the matter could be arranged on this basis, Western Australia would be glad to contribute its share of the expense, and to execute the work.

Cape Leeuwin Lighthouse and Signal Station.

It has been proposed to organise a Federal Quarantine Station at King George's Sound. The Government of the Colony are ready to give every facility, and it may be hoped that a basis of action on this and other Federal matters of pressing need will be settled or suggested during the sitting of the Convention.

Federal Quarantine Station at King George's Sound.

The systematic Marine Survey of the coasts of Western Australia, begun ten years ago, is a work of Federal value. The expense is borne jointly by the Admiralty and the Colony. The survey is steadily progressing, and a great extent of coast line, from King George's Sound and Cape Leeuwin in the South, to the new port of King Sound in the far North—entered a month or two ago by a merchant steamer for the first time—has been carefully mapped, and sounded out to the 100 fathoms edge. One important result of the survey is that the Rambler and Beaver reefs, so long a cause of anxiety to seamen, have been conclusively proved not to exist. The West Australian seaboard embraces nearly half the continent, but she has kept pace with the sister colonies in providing mariners with full and accurate charts. Taking into account her small means, she has probably spent a larger proportionate sum than any other state of the continent in perfecting the knowledge of Australian waters.

Object of these Notes.

These few notes may serve to show how the geographical position of the Western colony already connects it in no small degree with works and projects of continental concern, promising to make it the thoroughfare of the European mails, passengers, and telegrams of the federated Dominion of the future; and how its Government and Legislature are occupying themselves with undertakings which must tend to knit the Colony more closely to the rest of Australia.
