(CLASSED 100 A1 AT LLOYD'S.)

TENDERS addressed to the Chairman, and endorsed as above, will be received until noon the 12th day of February, 1904, for the purchase of the above vessel, which has just been overhauled on the Government Slip at Fremantle, and received renewal of Lloyd's certificate after special survey, and is now lying at that port.

The following are principal dimensions of hull :—

Length between perpendiculars	... 115ft. 0in.
Breadth, moulded	... 22ft. 0in.
Depth, moulded	... 10ft. 6in.
Sheer, forward (about)	... 3ft. 9in.

The following are principal particulars of machinery :—

Main Engines.—Twin triple expansion, each set capable of working up to 300 indicated horsepower.

High-pressure cylinder	10in. diameter
Intermediate	16½in. "
Low-pressure	27in. "
Stroke	22in. "

Boilers, two return multitubular; working pressure, 160lbs., tested to 320lbs.

Electric light engine.—Vertical compound, working with steam at 160lbs.; cylinders, 5½in. and 9in. diameter; stroke, 7in. Dynamo, capable of giving 50 amperes at 102 volts.

The tug was specially built, in 1898-99, by Messrs Fleming and Ferguson, of Paisley, for the Government of Western Australia, to the specifications of Messrs. Coode, Son, and Matthews, Consulting Marine Engineers; the conditions as to materials, workmanship, and inspection being exceptionally strict. All construction throughout is in full accordance with Lloyd's rules and regulations and the requirements of the Board of Trade.

The specified minimum speed of not less than 10 knots when not towing, and at least five knots when towing two barges, each laden with 400 tons, in fair weather, was more than complied with on trials.

The tug has been chiefly employed to tow hopper barges carrying spoil from dredging operations, but is no longer required for that purpose, the use of barges having been discontinued.

There is accommodation for master, mate, two engineers, and crew of four men, with galley, pantry, bathroom, etc.

The vessel is well found with all usual accessories and spare parts, and is complete for Tug or other service in every respect.

A steam fire-engine for port use, and an electric search light, both forming part of original equipment, are reserved from disposal, and do not go with the vessel.

The Tug may be inspected, and all further particulars and information, including view of the drawings and specifications, obtained on application to the Public Works Department, Perth, W.A.
