PROCLAMATION

WESTERN AUSTRALIA, } By His Excellency Sir James Mitchell, TO WIT. } K.C.M.G., Lieutenant-Governor in and
JAMES MITCHELL, } over the State of Western Australia

WHEREAS it is enacted by section 6 of the Profiteering Prevention Act, 1939, that the Governor may from time to time by Proclamation declare the commodities to which the said Act shall apply: And whereas by Proclamation of even date the Governor has declared the commodities to which the said Act applies: And whereas it is provided by section 13 of the said Act that the Governor may from time to time, on the report and advice of the Commissioner of Prices, under section 11 of the said Act, by Proclamation fix and declare for any commodity the maximum price at which it may be sold: And whereas the Commissioner of Prices has reported and advised as aforesaid: Now, therefore I, the said Lieutenant-Governor, acting with the advice and consent of the Executive Council and in accordance with the report and advice of the Commissioner of Prices aforesaid, and in exercise of the power conferred upon me in that behalf by section 13 of the said Act, do hereby fix and declare that the maximum price that may be charged from time to time upon any sale of commodities declared under section 6 of the said Act by the Proclamation aforesaid to be commodities to which the Profiteering Prevention Act, 1939, applies, shall be as set out in the Schedule hereunder:—

SCHEDULE.

Definitions.

1. In this Proclamation, unless the contrary intention appears—

“average cost” means, as regards commodities of any particular quality, the cost ascertained by dividing the total cost of old stock and new stock by the total quantity of old and new stock, and any reference to averaging the cost of any commodities has a like meaning;

“charged” includes debited or otherwise taken into account;

“cost” means—

(i) as regards commodities of any particular quality held for sale by a trader, the sum of money paid or agreed to be paid for or in respect of those commodities by the trader together with the expenses of freight, insurance, and exchange where incurred; and

(ii) as regards commodities manufactured or partially manufactured in Western Australia and held for sale by the manufacturer, the cost of manufacture of those commodities together with such proportion of other expenses as is properly chargeable in respect of the commodities before gross profit is ascertained, and, when any payment is specified or is made in a currency other than Australian currency, that payment shall be converted into Australian currency at the rate of exchange current on the date on which the payment is made;

“date of manufacture” means the date on which the manufacture of the goods is completed;

“materials” includes fuel and supplies for maintenance of plant and for manufacturing processes;

“old stock,” when used in contradistinction to new stock, means—

(i) in relation to a trader—commodities in store and unsold at the date of the receipt of new commodities; and

(ii) in relation to a manufacturer—commodities in store at the date of the manufacture of new commodities;

“paid” includes credited or otherwise taken into account;

“purchased” includes acquired by barter, exchange, or otherwise;

“quality” includes grade and description.

Imported Goods.

2. As regards commodities imported into Western Australia, I fix and declare the maximum wholesale price that may be charged from time to time by any trader upon any sale by wholesale of commodities of any quality to be the prevailing price, with the following exceptions, the operation of which is subject to the provisions of paragraph 5 of this Proclamation:—

(a) Where after the prescribed date and either before or after the making of this Proclamation the trader has received or receives new stock substantially identical in quality with stock held by him and remaining unsold on the prescribed date, he shall take into account the cost of the new stock received in such a way that the maximum price for any sale of stock, whether old stock or new stock, of such commodities, as on and from the date upon which he so takes into account the cost of that new stock, shall be the sum that represents the average cost of all the stock, both old stock and new stock, plus gross profit thereon, calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the trader on the old stock.

(b) Upon the receipt by the trader at any time thereafter of any additional parcel of new stock substantially identical in quality with stock already held by him, the provisions of the last preceding subparagraph shall apply from time to time as if the stock held by him and remaining unsold at the time of the receipt of an additional parcel were “old stock” within the meaning of that subparagraph.

(c) Where prior to the prescribed date the trader did not make any sale of commodities substantially identical in quality with stock he receives on or after that date, the maximum price for any sale of such stock shall be the cost of the commodities sold, plus gross profit thereon calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the trader on stock of similar class held for sale on the prescribed date.

Commodities Manufactured in Western Australia and Sold by Trader.

3. As regards commodities manufactured in Western Australia and held for sale by a trader, other than the manufacturer, I fix and declare the maximum wholesale price that may be charged from time to time by any such trader upon any sale by wholesale of commodities of any quality to be the prevailing price, with the following exceptions, the operation of which is subject to the provisions of paragraph 5 of this Proclamation:—

(a) Where after the prescribed date and either before or after the date of this Proclamation the trader receives or pays for new stock substantially identical in quality with stock held by him and remaining unsold on the prescribed date, he shall take into account the cost of the new stock received or paid for in such a way that the maximum price for any sale of stock, whether old stock or new stock, of such commodities, as on and from the date upon which he so takes into account the cost of that new stock shall be the sum that represents the average cost of all the stock, both old and new stock, plus gross profit thereon, calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the trader on the old stock;

(b) Upon the receipt by the trader at any time thereafter of any additional parcel of new stock substantially identical in quality with stock already held by him, the provisions of the last preceding subparagraph shall apply from time to time as if the stock held by him and remaining unsold at the time of the receipt of an additional parcel of new stock were “old stock” within the meaning of that subparagraph;

(c) Where prior to the prescribed date the trader did not make any sale of commodities substantially identical in quality with stock he receives on or after that date, the maximum price for any sale of such stock shall be the cost of the commodities, plus gross profit thereon, calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the trader on stock of similar class held for sale on the prescribed date.

Western Australian Manufactured Commodities held for Sale by the Manufacturer.

4. In the case of commodities manufactured or partially manufactured in Western Australia and held for sale by the manufacturer, I fix and declare the maxi-

imum price that may be charged from time to time by the manufacturer for commodities of any quality to be the prevailing price, with the following exceptions, the operation of which is subject to the provisions of paragraph 5 of this Proclamation:—

- (a) Where after the prescribed date the manufacturer manufactures commodities substantially identical in quality with commodities held by him in stock on the prescribed date, he shall take into account the cost of the new commodities so manufactured in such a way that the maximum price for any sale of stock, whether old stock or new stock of such commodities, as on and from the date upon which he takes into account the cost of that new stock shall be the sum that represents the average cost of all the stock, both old stock and new stock, plus gross profit thereon, calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the manufacturer on the old stock.
- (b) Upon the manufacture by the manufacturer at any time thereafter of any additional commodities substantially identical in quality with stock already held by him, the provisions of the last preceding subparagraph shall apply from time to time as if the stock held by him and remaining unsold at the date of the manufacture of any additional commodities were "old stock" within the meaning of that subparagraph.
- (c) Where after the prescribed date the manufacturer receives new stocks of materials substantially identical in quality with or interchangeable with old stocks of materials held by him on that date, such materials being for use either in or in connection with the manufacture of commodities of a particular quality, then for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of manufacture of those commodities, he shall take into account the cost of the new stocks of materials he receives in such a way that as on and from the date on which he takes into account the new stocks of materials the cost of the materials, whether from old stocks or from new stocks, used in or in connection with the manufacture of those commodities shall be the sum that represents the average costs of all the stocks of the materials, both old stocks and new stocks.
- (d) Upon the receipt by the manufacturer at any time thereafter of an additional parcel of new materials substantially identical in quality with or interchangeable with old stocks of materials held by him at the date of such receipt, the provisions of the last preceding subparagraph shall apply from time to time as if the stock held by him at the date of receipt of an additional parcel were "old stock" within the meaning of that subparagraph.
- (e) Where prior to the prescribed date the manufacturer did not make any sale of commodities substantially identical in quality with stock he receives on or after that date, the maximum price for any sale of such stock shall be the cost of the commodities, plus gross profit thereon, calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by the manufacturer on stock of similar class held for sale on the prescribed date.

Extension of Proclamation to certain Sales.

5. Where on any date a trader makes a sale by wholesale or a manufacturer makes a sale of a commodity of a quantity or on terms and conditions substantially different from the quantity in which or the terms and conditions upon which on the prescribed date the trader or manufacturer sold a commodity substantially identical in quality, then this Proclamation shall extend to such sale, but so that the maximum price declared by this Proclamation for such commodity shall be increased or decreased by an amount corresponding to the amount of the additional cost or saving to the trader or manufacturer consequent on the change in quantity or in the terms and conditions, or both.

Application of Averaging to falling Costs.

6. The system of averaging prescribed in paragraphs 2, 3, and 4 of this Proclamation when adopted by any trader or manufacturer shall apply equally to cases where new stock is acquired or produced by that trader or manufacturer at lower cost than old stock as to cases where the new stock is acquired or produced at higher cost.

Commodities Sold by Retail.

7. As regards commodities acquired by a trader since the prescribed date for sale by retail, I fix and declare the maximum price that may be charged from time to time by any such trader upon any sale by retail of commodities to be the cost to him of the commodities, together with gross profit thereon calculated on the same basis as that on which gross profit had been calculated by him on commodities of like quality immediately before the prescribed date, but any individual trader may make application to the Commissioner to have the averaging principle applied in respect of stocks on hand on the prescribed date and those subsequently acquired, and such application may be considered by the Commissioner in the light of all the circumstances surrounding the case.

Given under my hand and the public seal of the said State, at Perth, this 26th day of October, 1939.

By His Excellency's Command,

A. R. G. HAWKE,
Minister for Labour.
