Suspension.

Purpose.

37V. (a) Long service leave shall be granted solely for recuperative purposes.
(b) No employee shall undertake during long service leave, without the consent of the Board, any form of employment for hire or reward. Any contravention of this condition shall render the employee liable to dismissal.

37X. (a) Employees who at the date of commencement of these regulations have given ten or more years continuous service shall be credited with a first period of three months' long service leave as at the date of such commencement.

(b) Employees who at the date of such commencement have not given ten years' continuous service shall be credited with a first period of three months' long service leave on the day after such commencement when they shall have completed ten years' continuous service.

(c) Employees referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) hereof shall be credited with additional periods of three months' long service leave in respect of each ten years' subsequent continuous service.

(d) Employees who commence their employment after the date of the commencement of these regulations shall be credited with periods of three months' long service leave when and as often as they shall complete ten years' continuous service.

37Y. (a) The day on which an employee shall commence his long service shall be solely at the convenience of the Board.

Provided that the Board shall, as far as possible, and having regard to the relief available and other factors, grant such leave in the order of priority of length of continuous service.

(b) Wherever possible not less than one month's notice shall be given to an employee of the date on which his long service leave shall commence.

(b) An employee who retires at the age of sixty, or at any time thereafter up to the age of sixty-five or over, or who retires on account of incapacity due to old age, or through ill-health, or the result of an accident, shall be paid for long service leave as credited due to him.

(c) An employee who resigns other than to escape dismissal shall be paid for any long service leave credited as due to him.

Provided that where the employee has any complete period of long service leave credited as due to him, he shall, if required so to do by the Board, take such complete period of long service leave before he reaches the date due for his retirement, and thereafter such employee shall be entitled under this regulation to payment only of pro rata long service leave equivalent in respect to that service in relation to which he has not been credited with a complete period of long service leave.
