30. (1) In these regulations—

"service brake" means the footbrake or braking system designed mainly for the purpose of decelerating or bringing to a standstill the vehicle with which it is equipped;

"emergency brake" means the brake or braking system of a vehicle (usually operated by hand) designed to be brought into operation on the failure of the service brake of a vehicle and to prevent the vehicle from moving when unattended or stationary.

(2) This regulation does not apply to any motor cycle.

(3) (a) (i) A person shall not use or drive on a road a motor vehicle unless it is equipped with both a service brake and an emergency brake in efficient working order and designed, constructed and maintained in accordance with the provisions of this regulation and regulation 30A.

(ii) The service brake and the emergency brake of a motor vehicle are required to be so designed, constructed and maintained that either

both are controlled by a single braking system each having an independent means of operation

each is operated by a braking system independent of the other.

(b) Where the service and emergency brakes of a motor vehicle are comprised within a single braking system with independent means of operation, the means of operation shall not be regarded as other than independent solely because they are connected directly or indirectly to the same cross-shaft.

(c) Where the service and emergency brakes of a motor vehicle are connected directly or indirectly to the same cross-shaft, the service brake is required to be capable of acting simultaneously on the wheels of the vehicle directly and not through the transmission gear.

(d) The service brake of a motor vehicle manufactured in or after the year 1940 is required to be so designed, constructed and maintained as to be capable of acting on all the wheels of the vehicle simultaneously.

(4) (a) The service and emergency brakes of a motor vehicle shall be so designed, constructed and maintained as to operate on a minimum of two wheels or in the case of a vehicle with only three wheels, on a minimum of one wheel of the vehicle.

(b) Where the service and emergency brakes of a motor vehicle having more than three wheels operate on independent braking systems, each system is required to be so designed, constructed and maintained that if the brake operated thereby acts directly or indirectly on two wheels only, it will act on two wheels on the same axle.

(5) (a) The service brake or the emergency brake of a motor vehicle is required to be so designed, constructed and maintained that it is capable of acting directly upon the wheels and not through the transmission gear.

(b) The emergency brake of a motor vehicle is required to be so designed, constructed and maintained that it is capable of being applied by direct mechanical action without the intervention of any hydraulic, electric or pneumatic device.

(6) In this regulation, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression "motor vehicle" does not include a trailer, semi-trailer or caravan attached to or drawn by a motor vehicle.

3. The principal regulations are amended by adding a regulation numbered 30A to follow regulation 30 as follows:—

30A. (1) (a) The service brake of a motor vehicle shall not be regarded as in efficient order unless on a reasonably dry, smooth and level road, free from loose material, the driver of the vehicle is able by means of one sustained application of the service brake—

- (i) when the vehicle is travelling at a speed of twenty miles per hour, to bring the vehicle to a standstill within the distance appropriate to the class of vehicle concerned as specified in Table A of the Fourteenth Schedule; and
- (ii) when the vehicle is travelling at any speed, to decelerate the vehicle at a rate no less than the minimum rate of deceleration appropriate to the class of vehicle concerned as specified in Table A of the Fourteenth Schedule.

(b) For the purposes of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) of this subregulation—

- (i) motor vehicles are divided into classes as tabulated in Column 1 of Table A of the Fourteenth Schedule;
- (ii) the distances within which the classes of vehicles are required to be brought to a standstill from a speed of twenty miles per hour, are set out in Column 2 of the Table; and
- (iii) the minimum rates of deceleration appropriate to the classes of vehicles are set out in Column 3 of the Table.

(2) (a) The emergency brake of a motor vehicle shall not be regarded as in efficient order unless, on a reasonably dry, smooth and level road, free from loose material, the driver of the vehicle is able by means of one sustained application of the emergency brake—

- (i) when the vehicle is travelling at a speed of twenty miles per hour, to bring the vehicle to a standstill within the distance appropriate to the class of vehicle concerned as specified in Table B of the Fourteenth Schedule; or
- (ii) when the vehicle is travelling at any speed, to decelerate the vehicle at a rate no less than the minimum rate of deceleration appropriate to the class of vehicle concerned as specified in Table B of the Fourteenth Schedule.

(b) For the purposes of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) of this subregulation—

4. The principal regulations are amended by adding a regulation numbered 35A to follow regulation 35 as follows:—

35A. (1) A person using, driving or in charge of a vehicle on a road shall, at the request of a Traffic Inspector or member of the Police Force, allow the Inspector or member of the Police Force to test the efficiency of the brake or brakes of the vehicle.

(2) A Traffic Inspector or member of the Police Force may use a Ferodo Tapley Brake Testing Meter or Decelerometer as a means of testing the efficiency of a brake of a vehicle.

5. Regulation 41 of the principal regulations is revoked and the following regulation substituted therefor:—

41. (1) (a) A person shall not drive on a road a motor vehicle towing a trailer, semi-trailer or caravan, which (towed vehicle) together with the load, if any, carried thereon, or which it is licensed to carry, exceeds the unladen weight of the towing vehicle, unless the trailer, semi-trailer or caravan, as the case may be, is equipped with a braking system in efficient working order and designed, constructed and maintained in accordance with the provisions of this regulation.

(b) For the purposes of this regulation a braking system comprising over-run brakes only shall not be regarded as a braking system in efficient working order where the weight of the trailer, semi-trailer or caravan concerned, together with the load, if any, carried thereon, or which it is licensed to carry exceeds 25 cwt.,

or exceeds the unladen weight of the towing vehicle.

(2) The braking system of a trailer, semi-trailer or caravan, the weight of which together with the load it carries or is licensed to carry exceeds 25 cwt., is required to be so designed, constructed and maintained that it—

(a) is capable of acting upon at least two wheels if the trailer, semi-trailer or caravan concerned has not more than four wheels;

(b) is capable of acting upon at least four wheels, if the trailer, semi-trailer or caravan concerned has more than four wheels;

- (c) is capable of being applied by the driver of the towing vehicle from the driver's seat;
- (d) has a suitable vacuum tank, if vacuum brakes are used or a suitable air storage tank, if air brakes are used.

(3) (a) The braking system of a trailer, semi-trailer or caravan when attached to or towed by a motor vehicle shall not be regarded as in efficient working order unless on a reasonably dry, smooth and level road, free from loose material, the driver of the towing vehicle is able by means of one sustained application of the service brake of the towing vehicle simultaneously with one sustained application of the braking system of the towed vehicle—

- (i) when travelling at a speed of twenty miles per hour, to bring the vehicles to a standstill within the distance appropriate to the class of combination of vehicles concerned as specified in Table C of the Fourteenth Schedule;
- (ii) when travelling at any speed, to decelerate the vehicles at a rate no less than the minimum rate of deceleration appropriate to the class of combination of vehicles concerned as specified in Table C of the Fourteenth Schedule.

(b) For the purposes of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) of this subregulation—

- (i) the combinations of vehicles concerned are divided into classes as tabulated in Column 1 of Table C of the Fourteenth Schedule;
- (ii) the distances within which the classes of the combinations of vehicles are required to be brought to a standstill from a speed of twenty miles per hour are set out in Column 2 of the Table; and
- (iii) the minimum rates of deceleration appropriate to the classes of combinations of vehicles are set out in Column 3 of the Table.

(4) This regulation does not apply to a trailer, semi-trailer or caravan exclusively used outside the limits of the South-West Division as described in the Land Act, 1933-1953.

6. Regulation 49 of the principal regulations is revoked and the following regulation substituted therefor:—

49. (1) A person shall not use or ride on a road a motor cycle unless it is equipped with

- two independent braking systems; or
- one braking system having two independent means of operation;

and each braking system is in efficient working order and designed, constructed and maintained in accordance with the provisions of this regulation.

(2) The braking system or systems of a motor cycle shall be so designed, constructed and maintained that the failure of any portion of any braking system or means of operation of a braking system does not prevent the brake on at least one wheel of the vehicle from operating so as to bring it when in motion to a standstill.

(3) (a) The braking system or systems of a motor cycle shall not be regarded as in efficient working order unless, on a reasonably dry, smooth and level road, free from loose material the rider is able, by means of one sustained application of the brakes of the vehicle—

- (i) when travelling at a speed of twenty miles per hour, to bring the vehicle to a standstill within the distance appropriate to the class of motor cycle concerned as specified in Table D of the Fourteenth Schedule; and
- (ii) when travelling at any speed, to decelerate the vehicle at a rate no less than the minimum rate of deceleration appropriate to the class of motor cycle concerned as specified in Table D of the Fourteenth Schedule.

(b) For the purposes of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of paragraph (a) of this subregulation—

- (i) motor cycles are divided into classes as tabulated in Column 1 of Table D of the Fourteenth Schedule;
- (ii) the distances within which the classes of motor cycles are required to be brought to a standstill from a speed of twenty miles per hour are set out in Column 2 of the Table; and
- (iii) the minimum rates of deceleration appropriate to the classes of motor cycles are set out in Column 3 of the Table.

(4) In this regulation "motor cycle" includes a motor cycle having a sidecar attached thereto.

7. Regulation 134 of the principal regulations is amended by adding after paragraph (g) a paragraph lettered (h) as follows:—

- (h) ride a cycle on a road unless an efficient brake capable of being applied by the rider from his riding position is affixed to the cycle.

8. Regulation 223 of the principal regulations is revoked.

THE Kent District Road Board, under and by virtue of the powers conferred on it in that behalf by the Road Districts Act, 1919-1951, and all other powers enabling it, doth hereby make and publish the following by-laws:—

1. In the interpretation of these by-laws the following words shall have the meanings assigned to them hereunder:—

(a) "Board" means the Kent District Road Board.

(b) "Continuous service" means service in the employment of the Board during which an employee has not been absent from the service of the Board for a continuous period of more than two days or an aggregate period of more than 10 days without leave of absence being granted by the Board: Provided that an employee who was employed by the Board on a permanent basis immediately prior to entering continuous full-time service with the Armed Forces of the Commonwealth of Australia, or who was directed by the Manpower Directorate to serve elsewhere, between the 3rd day of September, 1939, and the 3rd day of March, 1947, shall have such service counted as continuous service with the Board, provided the requisite proof is produced.

Long service leave to be taken at the convenience of the Board, which will as far as possible, meet with the wishes of the employee, but the Board may require the employee to take leave by giving not less than three months' notice.

3. Absence on account of sickness shall not be deemed to be a break in the continuity of service, providing the period of absence shall not exceed three months in any year, unless otherwise decided by the Board.

5. Employees shall not be entitled to long service leave until the completion of the first 10 years' service. Employees shall then be entitled to a pro rata payment if they leave the service of the Board before the next period is completed.

6. Long service leave shall be considered as a special period of recuperation after a lengthy term of service with a view to fitting the employee for a further term, and during such leave no employee shall undertake any form of employment for hire or reward, unless by special permission of the Board. Any contravention of this by-law shall entitle the Board to dismiss the employee from its service, and to cease paying or to recover any amounts paid in advance on account of long service leave.
