PART II.—HOURS OF DUTY.

6. Except where the Commissioner otherwise by administrative instruction directs because the circumstances of public business do not permit or because the nature of the duties of an officer or class of officers does not in the public interest permit, the hours of attendance at work to be observed by officers shall be from 8.30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on five days a week, Monday to Friday inclusive, with an interval of one hour from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. for luncheon.

7. Except where otherwise provided by any enactment, or under these regulations, the minimum period during which departmental offices shall be open to the public for business shall be between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3.30 p.m. Monday to Friday.

8. When and as often as it is necessary to overcome arrears of work or to meet pressure of business, any officer may be required by the permanent head of the department, wherein he is employed, to perform duty at times other than the hours of attendance prescribed by or under these regulations.

9. The permanent head of a department may, in the public interest, require any officer employed in the department to attend for duty on a Saturday or on a Public Service holiday, as defined under section fifty-seven of the Act.

10. (1) The permanent head of a department may require any officer employed therein to attend for duty on a Sunday, but—

- (a) an officer who objects on the grounds of conscientious belief to work on a Sunday is not liable to dismissal or punishment or other disability for refusing on those grounds to so work if he has previously notified the permanent head, in writing, that he has such a conscientious belief and that belief is genuine;
- (b) where an officer refuses on the grounds of conscientious belief to work on a Sunday when required so to do by the permanent head, if the conscientious belief is not genuine he is guilty of an offence against these regulations and may be dealt with under and in accordance with the provisions of section forty-two of the Act;
- (c) the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this subregulation do not apply to an officer whose normal duties take him into the field on visits extending over a weekend and who may be required to perform some duty on a Sunday.

(2) For the purposes of this regulation, conscientious belief includes a conscientious belief whether the grounds for the belief are or are not of a religious character and whether the belief is or is not part of the doctrine of any religion.

11. (1) Subject to regulation 12 of these regulations, in every department attendance books shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner directs and an officer appointed by the permanent head of the department or head of the sub-department therein has charge of the attendance books and is responsible for the proper keeping thereof.

(2) (a) All officers, except permanent heads of departments and heads of sub-departments, and any who may be exempted by the Commissioner, shall personally enter in the appropriate attendance book on each day on which he is required to work as an officer, the respective times of—

- (ii) his departure therefrom after finishing work on that day; and
- (iii) his departure therefrom before and return thereto after his luncheon hour.

(b) Where an officer does not leave his office or place of work during his luncheon hour of any day on which he is required to work, he shall personally enter in the appropriate attendance book the time of his commencing work after the luncheon hour on that day.

(3) (a) On each working day attendance books shall be available for signature by officers before the prescribed time of commencing work for that day and shall immediately after that time be withdrawn by the officer responsible for keeping the books.

(b) The officer so responsible shall rule a red line under the last signature then thereon appearing and initial the book immediately thereunder.

(c) The officer so responsible shall himself record the name of any officer arriving for work thereafter, together with the time of his arrival and the reason for the late arrival of the officer.

(4) Attendance books shall not be produced on any day for recording the time of departure from work of officers before the time prescribed for ceasing work on that day.

12. (1) A recorder may be used within any department or sub-department for the purpose of recording on each working day the respective times of the arrival of each officer at the department or sub-department for work on that day, his departure therefrom before and return thereto after his luncheon hour and the departure of each officer therefrom after the officer has ceased work on that day.

(2) The provisions of this regulation apply instead of the provisions of regulation 11 of these regulations in relation to officers who are required by the permanent head to record times of arrival for work at, departure from and return to after the luncheon hour and departure after ceasing work from the department or sub-department by use of a recorder instead of by use of an attendance book.

(3) An officer appointed by the permanent head of a department or the head of the sub-department shall supervise the use of the recorder and is responsible for reporting to the permanent head or the head of the sub-department concerned regarding the proper use of the recorder and the due observance by officers of the prescribed hours of attendance.

(4) (a) Each officer, with the exception of permanent heads of departments and heads of sub-departments and any other officer who may be exempted by the Commissioner, shall personally record in the recorder provided for the purpose on each day on which he is required to work in any department or sub-department, the respective times of—

- (i) his arrival at the department or sub-department, or at the place where the recorder is provided, to commence work on that day;
- (ii) his departure therefrom after finishing work on that day; and
- (iii) his departure therefrom before and return thereto after his luncheon hour.

(b) Where an officer does not leave his office or place of work during his luncheon hour of any day on which he is required to work, he shall personally record in the recorder the time of his commencing work after the luncheon hour on that day.

(c) Officers shall personally record the respective times required to be recorded by them under this regulation in the order at which they arrive at the recorder for the purpose of so doing.

(5) For the purpose of this regulation, "recorder" includes any electrical or mechanical time recorder provided for the recording of times as required by this regulation.

13. Where the permanent head of a department certifies that it is not practical to apply the provisions of regulations 11 and 12 of these regulations in any particular country or remote district of the State, the officers employed in that department who are employed in any such district shall send to the permanent head not later than seven days next following the last working day in the months of March, June, September and December of each year, a return in a form provided by the Commissioner setting out the respective times of their attendances and departures from their place of work on each working day during the three months ending on the last working day in the months of March, June, September and December.

14. Except where the permanent head of a department otherwise directs in writing, every officer while not immediately under the supervision of a superior officer, shall keep a monthly journal in a form provided by the permanent head and approved by the Commissioner showing in respect of each working day the duties performed by the officer on that day and the time occupied therein, and each officer shall forward a copy of that journal to his officer-in-charge for transmission to the permanent head, not later than seven days next following the last working day in each month.

15. A written report shall be made by the officer responsible for the proper keeping of an attendance book or a time recorder to the appropriate permanent head, with respect to the conduct of any officer who—commits a breach of these regulations and is liable to such punishment, as may be determined, under the provisions of section forty-two of the Act.

17. The permanent head of a department shall, when and as often as he is requested by the Commissioner to do so, forward to the Commissioner a list in respect of any such period as is specified in such request, of the names of the officers employed in the department showing against each name—

- (a) the number of times an officer has during that period failed to observe the prescribed hours of duty;
- (b) the number of occasions the head of the sub-department or the permanent head of the department wherein the officer is employed has refused to accept the explanation given by the officer as to why he has so failed, as a reasonable one;
- (c) the disciplinary action taken by the permanent head against the officer who has failed to so observe the prescribed hours of duty; and

19. Where an officer absents himself from duty without lawful excuse or if no satisfactory explanation is given by him for such absence, the permanent head of the department wherein the officer is employed may cause to be deducted from the salary of that officer the amount of his pay for each day or portion of each day, as the case may be, during which the officer is so absent.

20. An officer shall not, except with the express permission of the permanent head of the department or the head of the sub-department wherein he is employed, absent himself from any town or district at any time during which he is required to be on duty therein, or reside therein for the purpose of his duty.

- (b) if after that deduction an officer with not less than six months' service on the first day of July, 1951, would at that date have less than ten working days on full pay and five working days on half pay to his credit, then his credit at that date shall be increased to those amounts, but any credit in excess of the required minimum
