any step in connection with the election, but shall not otherwise be under any duty to notify scrutineers of such matters.

- (vii) An election shall not be invalidated by inadvertent failure to give any person qualified to vote any notice required by this statute.
- 3.5.7 Ballot papers shall be initialled by the Returning Officer or other person nominated by the Returning Officer in writing for that purpose.
- 3.5.8 The system of voting to be used shall be an optional preferential system and shall be conducted as follows:
- (i) Ballot papers may be marked by placing the numeral 1 beside the name of the candidate for whom the voter wishes to vote provided that a voter who wishes to express a second or any subsequent preference shall place the numeral 1 beside the candidate of his first preference and the numerals 2, 3, 4 and so on in numerical order beside the name or names of any candidate or candidates for whom he wishes to express a second or subsequent preference. A ballot paper shall not be invalid merely because the voter has not expressed a preference for all of the candidates provided that in an election to fill two or more vacancies it shall be necessary to express a preference for at least the same number of candidates as there are vacancies to be filled.
- (ii) Upon the close of the ballot the Returning Officer shall scrutinise the ballot papers and eliminate any invalid votes. He shall then count and record the number of votes (other than second or subsequent preferences) expressed for each candidate.
- (iii) In the case of an election at which only one vacancy is to be filled, the Returning Officer shall declare elected the candidate (if any) who has an absolute majority of votes provided that if no candidate has an absolute majority on the first count, the Returning Officer shall eliminate the candidate with the lowest number of votes and shall distribute these votes amongst the remaining candidates according to their next preferences (if any) expressed thereon. This procedure shall be repeated until one candidate has absolute majority whereupon that candidate shall be declared elected.
- (iv) In the case of an election at which two or more vacancies are to be filled, the Returning Officer shall declare first elected the candidate (if any) who has an absolute majority provided that if no candidate has an absolute majority on the first count, the Returning Officer shall eliminate the candidate with the lowest number of votes and shall distribute these votes amongst the remaining candidates according to their next preference expressed thereon. This procedure shall be repeated until one candidate has an absolute majority whereupon that candidate shall be declared first elected. Once the first candidate has been elected, the Returning Officer shall return all the ballot papers to the candidates of their first preferences. The Returning Officer shall then distribute the votes of the first elected candidate according to their next preferences expressed thereon. The Returning Officer shall then declare second elected the candidate (if any) who now has an absolute majority of votes provided that if no candidate has an absolute majority on this count, the Returning Officer shall eliminate the candidate with the lowest number of votes and shall distribute these votes amongst the remaining candidates according to their next preferences (if any) expressed thereon. This procedure shall be repeated until a second candidate shall be declared second elected. The Returning Officer shall then return all the ballot papers to the candidates of their first preferences and shall continue to repeat the procedures outlined in this section until the required number of vacancies are filled.

- (f) in subsection 3.7, repealing the subsection and substituting the following—

3.7 In matters not covered by the provisions of this Statute, the Returning Officer shall adopt the procedures as outlined in the Commonwealth Electoral Act.

3.8 Right of Appeal

A candidate shall have the right of appeal to the Chairman within seven (7) days of the declaration of the poll should he feel that the conduct of the election was in any way contrary to this Statute.

The Chairman shall have the power to make such enquiry as he deems necessary into the matter complained of and after such enquiry may confirm the election or annul the election and direct that a fresh election be held."
