ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AUTHORITY

Draft Environmental Protection (Ozone-depleting Substances) Policy 1989

ON 19 May 1989, the Environmental Protection Authority (EPA) released for public comment a draft Environmental Protection Policy to control the discharge into the environment of specific ozone-depleting chlorofluorocarbons used as refrigerants in refrigeration and air-conditioning equipment—

- trichlorofluoromethane (CCl₃F) otherwise known as “refrigerant R11”.
- dichlorodifluoromethane (CCl₂F₂) otherwise known as “refrigerant R12”.

Following the public review period, the EPA has made the following minor amendments to the draft Policy.

1. References in the Policy to “emission” and “emitted” have become references to “discharge” and “discharged”.

2. Clause 3. The definition of "cooling equipment" has a new paragraph (b) to include "recycling equipment".
3. Clause 8. This clause has been completely rewritten to prohibit the release of ozone-depleting substances generally, except in specified circumstances.
4. Clause 9. The former subclause (1) (a) has been omitted since the Policy is now expected to take effect from 1 January 1990 and not 1 October 1989 as originally envisaged.

The Policy will—require that discharges of R11 and R12 be minimised whilst servicing refrigeration or air-conditioning equipment;

prohibit R11 and R12 being discharged into the environment generally, except in specified circumstances;

prohibit the mixing of different refrigerants;

require those who import into the State to notify the EPA of such quantities imported.

In combination with other legislative changes, a likely effect of the Policy will be that a recycling operation for R11 and R12 is established in Western Australia.

Copies of the amended draft Policy and report thereon have been forwarded to the Minister for Environment for his consideration, and may be obtained free of charge until Monday, 27 November 1989, from the following EPA offices—

Environmental Protection Act 1986

Environmental Protection (Ozone-depleting Substances) Policy 1989

Part I—Preliminary

Citation

1. This environmental protection policy may be cited as the Environmental Protection (Ozone-depleting Substances) Policy 1989.

Purpose of environmental protection policy

2. The purpose of this environmental protection policy is to minimize the discharge into the environment of ozone-depleting substances—

- (a) used in cooling equipment; or
- (b) transferred between containers and cooling equipment elsewhere than in licensed premises, and, in so doing, to help to protect the living environment from being harmed by increasing amounts of ultraviolet radiation reaching the surface of the Earth as a result of the reduction of the quantity of ozone present in the upper atmosphere caused by the release of ozone-depleting substances.

Interpretation

3. In this environmental protection policy, unless the contrary intention appears—

"cooling equipment" means device which—

- (a) uses the recirculation of an ozone-depleting substance through an evaporation and condensation cycle in order directly or indirectly to cool—
 - (i) the ambient environment within wholly or partly enclosed spaces; or
 - (ii) any object or objects;

or

- (b) is constructed or adapted for the purification of ozone-depleting substances;

"licensed premises" means premises in respect of which a licence relating to the repackaging or sale of ozone-depleting substances is in force;

"ozone-depleting substances" means—

- (a) trichlorofluoromethane (CCl₃F) (otherwise known as "refrigerant R11") alone or in a mixture comprising more than 15% by mass of trichlorofluoromethane; or
- (b) dichlorodifluoromethane (CCl₂F₂) (otherwise known as "refrigerant R12") alone or in a mixture comprising more than 15% by mass of dichlorodifluoromethane;

"reclamation equipment" means device—

- (a) designed to remove an ozone-depleting substance from cooling equipment with little or no discharge of the ozone-depleting substance into the environment; and
- (b) available in Australia to persons carrying on the business of servicing cooling equipment;

"service" means any form of action in respect of cooling equipment (other than normal use of cooling equipment for the purpose for which it was designed) that leads, or is capable of leading, to the discharge of an ozone-depleting substance into the atmosphere.

Application

4. This environmental protection policy applies throughout the State.

Part II—Protection of Ozone Layer

Servicing of cooling equipment

5. (1) A person who services an item of cooling equipment shall—

- (a) in so doing, if the design and operability of that item are capable of preventing the discharge of the ozone-depleting substance contained in that item into the environment (whether with or without the use of reclamation equipment), ensure that that discharge is prevented; and
- (b) in transferring an ozone-depleting substance to or from that item, ensure that none of the ozone-depleting substance is discharged into the environment.

(2) A person does not contravene subclause (1) if the relevant ozone-depleting substance is discharged into the environment—

- (a) when reclamation equipment is being used, only in amounts to be expected with—
 - (i) the reclamation equipment working properly and being used in accordance with the instructions of its manufacturer; and
 - (ii) the cooling equipment working properly and in accordance with its design specifications;

- (b) when reclamation equipment is not being used, only in amounts to be expected with the cooling equipment working properly and in accordance with its design specifications;

- (c) during the transfer of an ozone-depleting substance to or from the cooling equipment, only in amounts to be expected during the execution, in accordance with good current cooling equipment servicing practice relating to the minimization of the discharge of ozone-depleting substances into the environment, of such a transfer; or

- (d) through leaks caused by the failure, which cannot reasonably be foreseen or prevented, of the cooling equipment or reclamation equipment.

(3) A person who—

- (a) contravenes subclause (1); or
- (b) services cooling equipment otherwise than in accordance with good current cooling equipment servicing practice relating to the minimization of the discharge of ozone-depleting substances into the environment, commits an offence.

Filling of transportable containers with ozone-depleting substances

6. A person who fills a transportable container with an ozone-depleting substance otherwise than in accordance with Australian Standard AS 2030.1—1985 entitled "The Approval, Filling, Inspection, Testing and Maintenance of Cylinders for the Storage and Transport of Compressed Gases: Part 1—Cylinders for Compressed Gases other than Acetylene" commits an offence.

Filling of containers with incorrect substances

7. (1) A person who fills a container, the label attached to which indicates (whether in writing, by use of a colour code, pictorially or in some other manner) that the container should contain only a particular ozone-depleting substance—

- (a) in pure form, with a substance other than that ozone-depleting substance in that form; or
- (b) in contaminated form, with a substance other than that ozone-depleting substance in pure or contaminated form,

commits an offence.

(2) In subclause (1) (b)—

“contaminated” means contaminated through use in cooling equipment operated normally.

Discharges of ozone-depleting substances generally

8. (1) Subject to subclause (2), a person (not being a person referred to in clause 5 or 6) who causes or allows the discharge of an ozone-depleting substance into the environment otherwise than on licensed premises commits an offence.

(2) Subclause (1) does not apply to a discharge of an ozone-depleting substance if that discharge—

- (a) occurs during the filling of a charging cylinder for the purpose of measuring the quantity of the ozone-depleting substance before the ozone-depleting substance is transferred to cooling equipment; and
- (b) is of the minimum quantity of the ozone-depleting substance necessary to enable the filling referred to in paragraph (a) to take place, or that discharge occurs from a pressure pack as defined by regulation 10 of the Environmental Protection Regulations 1987.

(3) In subclause (2)—

“charging cylinder” means device used for measuring quantities of ozone-depleting substances.

Part III—GeneralCertain importers of ozone-depleting substances to furnish returns

9. (1) A person (not being a licensee in respect of the repackaging or sale of ozone-depleting substances) who imports into the State within the period of 6 months commencing on—

- (a) 1 January in each successive year after 1989 an ozone-depleting substance for use in cooling equipment shall furnish to the Chief Executive Officer on or before 31 July in that year; or
- (b) 1 July in each successive year after 1989 an ozone-depleting substance for use in cooling equipment shall furnish to the Chief Executive Officer on or before 31 January of the year next following that year, a return in writing specifying the quantity of the ozone-depleting substance so imported within that period.

(2) A person who contravenes subclause (1) commits an offence.

Penalties

10. (1) An individual who is convicted of an offence under clause 5, 6, 7, 8 or 9 is liable to a maximum penalty not exceeding $5 000 and, if the offence is a continuing offence, a daily penalty not exceeding $1 000.

(2) A body corporate which is convicted of an offence under clause 5, 6, 7, 8 or 9 is liable to a maximum penalty not exceeding $10 000 and, if the offence is a continuing offence, to a daily penalty not exceeding $2 000.
