- (2) For the purposes of these regulations, a reference to the value of diamonds at a particular point in their production (other than their supply), or in a particular form, is to be treated as a reference to that value, reduced by an amount equal to the amount of GST that would be payable if the diamonds were supplied at that point, or in that form.
- (3) If, when determining a value of diamonds for the purposes of these regulations, an amount (an expense) that relates to obtaining those diamonds may be deducted from another amount, the amount that may be deducted is reduced by an amount equal to the net input tax credit (if any) that arises in relation to that expense.

~~(b) if there is no above zero profit for that year, the amount of that royalty.~~

~~(2) For the purposes of subregulation (1)~~

~~(a) in any year in which three quarters of 22.5% of the above zero profit for that year is equal to or greater than 7.5% of the f.o.b. revenue for that year, one quarter of 22.5% of the above zero profit for that year or such lesser amount as is equal to the offset amount is to be retained by the tenement holder and applied in reduction or retirement as the case may be of the offset amount;~~

~~(b) in any year in which~~

~~(i) 22.5% of the above zero profit for that year exceeds 7.5% of the f.o.b. revenue for that year; and~~

~~(ii) three quarters of 22.5% of the above zero profit is less than 7.5% of the f.o.b. revenue;~~

8. Depreciation of allowable capital expenditure

- (1) Depreciation of allowable capital expenditure is to be calculated as follows —
 - (a) where at the end of a year the estimated remaining life of the mine at which the tenement holder is carrying on diamond mining operations within the Ellendale mining lease (or, where there is more than one such mine the estimated remaining life of the mine with the largest production) exceeds 5 years, by applying a rate of 20% to the depreciated value of allowable capital expenditure; and
 - (b) where at the end of a year the mine with the largest production has an estimated life of 5 years or less, by dividing, each year thereafter, the depreciated value of allowable capital expenditure by the remaining estimated life of that mine.
- (2) For the purposes of subregulation (1) —
 - (a) the total amount of depreciation claimed in respect of any asset shall not exceed the cost of that asset; and
 - (b) the depreciated value of allowable capital expenditure shall be reduced in respect of any asset sold or otherwise disposed of by the proceeds of sale or disposal (if any).

9. Losses

- (1) Where, in relation to a year, the allowable deductions exceed the sales value a loss is deemed to have been incurred by the tenement holder in respect of that year and the amount of the loss is deemed to be the amount by which the allowable deductions for that year exceed the sales value for that year.

- ~~(2) So much of the losses incurred in any one of the 7 years preceding a particular year as has not been allowed as a deduction from sales value in any one of those years is to be allowed as a deduction from sales value in calculating above zero profit for that year and, for that purpose, the ageing of the balance on losses carried forward is to be determined on a first in first out basis.~~
