[01 Mar 2009, 02-j0-02] and [22 May 2009, 02-k0-02]

Human Reproductive Technology Act 1991

An Act to establish the Western Australian Reproductive Technology Council; to require the compilation of a Code relating to the practice of, the procedures used in, and the ethics governing, human reproductive technology; to make provision with respect to the use of that technology in relation to artificially assisted human conception and for the regulation of certain research; and for related purposes.

Preamble

Whereas:

- A. In enacting this legislation Parliament is seeking to give help and encouragement to those eligible persons who wish to be parents.
- B. Parliament considers that the primary purpose and only justification for the creation of a human embryo in vitro is to assist persons who are unable to conceive children naturally due to medical reasons or whose children are otherwise likely to be affected by a genetic abnormality or a disease, to have children, and this legislation should respect the life created by this process.
- C. Although Parliament recognises that research has enabled the development of current procedures and that certain research procedures and other uses upon a human embryo may be licit, it does not approve the creation of a human embryo for a purpose other than the implantation in the body of a woman.

[Preamble amended by No. 3 of 2002 s. 72; No. 17 of 2004 s. 4.]

 - (c) if so requested, report to the Minister on any proposal, whether made by the Minister, the CEO or the Council, or on any existing or prior proceedings or function.
- (3) The Minister, having regard to the objects of this Act, may give instructions in writing to the Council in relation to any function of the Council, either generally or with respect to a particular matter (but not in relation to dealings with, or the licensing of, any particular person), and the Council shall —
 - (a) subject to subsection (4), give effect to any such instruction; and
 - (b) include in the annual report to be furnished under section 5(6) the text of any such instruction.
- (4) Where, in the opinion of the Council, an instruction given by the Minister fails to give due regard to one or more of the objects of this Act the Council shall so advise the Minister, giving such particularity as the Minister may require, and thereupon if the terms of the instruction given are not agreed, or agreed as amended by the Minister, after consultation between the Minister and the Council, the Council may cause a report on the disagreement to be laid before each House of Parliament.

[Section 12 amended by No. 28 of 2006 s. 270.]

13. Powers, and relationship to the Council, of the CEO

(1) The CEO may at any time require the Council to advise on reproductive technology matters, on the evaluation or monitoring of licensee compliance with the regulations, any directions, and the Code of Practice, on public education, on the compilation of the reports to be furnished under this Act, or on the administration or enforcement of this Act, and the Council shall, as soon as is practicable, furnish that advice.

(2) Where —

- (a) a decision relevant to a function of the Council is, in the opinion of the CEO having regard to the objects of this Act, required to be taken in the interests of public health;
- (b) that decision has not been, and in the opinion of the CEO is not likely promptly to be, taken by the Council and the CEO has so informed the Minister;
- (c) the CEO has, by instrument in writing signed personally by the Minister, been required to consider and if appropriate to take that decision;
- (d) the CEO has thereafter made known to the Council the decision which the CEO has taken and any requirements made of the Council as to the discharge of the function in question; and
- (e) the function is not thereafter, in the opinion of the Minister, properly discharged by the Council, the CEO may, if so instructed by the Minister, thereafter discharge that function as though a delegate of the Council specifically authorised to do so, and any reference in this Act to a function of the Council may for the purposes of this subsection be construed as including a reference to the CEO so acting as delegate.

(3) Any question arising between the Council, or any committee or member, and the CEO as to the operation of this section, or as to a conflict between instructions given by the Minister and requirements made known by the CEO respectively, shall be addressed to, and having regard to the objects of this Act may be determined by, the Minister.

- (4) Subject to subsection (5), the CEO may, by an instrument in writing signed personally, delegate to a person who is an officer of, or who carries out duties in, the Department as defined in section 3 of the Health Legislation Administration Act 1984, either generally or as otherwise provided by that instrument, any function in the administration of this Act vested in or required to be discharged by the CEO.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not apply to or in relation to —
- (a) the power to take a decision required under subsection (2)(c);
 - (b) the power to license;
 - (c) any disciplinary function referred to in section 37 or 38; or
 - (d) any other function in relation to which the Minister otherwise directs.
- (6) Where —
- (a) a requirement under this section is made known by the CEO to the Council; or
 - (b) the CEO has been required to exercise any power under subsection (2)(c), the CEO shall include in the annual report to be submitted to the Minister the text of that requirement, particulars as to the function to which the requirement related and as to the manner in which the power under subsection (2)(c) and any function thereby effected was discharged or purported to have been discharged, and any reason given to the Council for the requirement or for the discharge of the function, and shall include in relation to such matters such information as the Council may request that is contained in the report required to be furnished by the Council.

s. 14

- (7) Subject to sections 31 and 32, the CEO may impose conditions and give directions in relation to any licence or exemption.
- (8) In the discharge of any function, or in imposing any condition, and in giving any direction under this Act the CEO shall, where practicable and requested, afford to an applicant or licensee reasons for any determination which may be made in relation to that person and a reasonable opportunity to show cause why the determination should not be given effect.

[Section 13 amended by No. 28 of 2006 s. 267 and 270.]

14. Functions of the Council

- (1) Subject to section 13(2), the functions of the Council are —

 - (iii) provides for such other matters as may be instructed by the Minister, or as the Council may determine, regulating the proper conduct of any reproductive technology practice, and of any procedure, required to be licensed and the proper discharge of the functions of the licence supervisor and other persons to whom a licence applies, having due regard to this Act;
- (d) subject to paragraph (e), to encourage and facilitate, research —
- (i) into the cause, prevention and treatment of all types of human infertility, adequate attention being given both to female and to male infertility; and

- (2) Subsection (1)(e)(iv) does not apply in relation to an excess ART embryo except in relation to the use of such an embryo that is an exempt use as defined in section 53W(2).
- (2a) The Council must not grant approval to any research being conducted upon or with a human embryo unless —
- (a) the embryo is intended for use in the reproductive technology treatment of a woman and the Council is satisfied, on the basis of existing scientific and medical knowledge, that the research is unlikely to leave the embryo unfit to be implanted in the body of a woman; or
 - (b) the research consists of a use referred to in section 53W(2)(b) or (f).
- (2b) The Council must not grant approval to any diagnostic procedure to be carried out upon or with a human embryo unless —

Part 3 — The Code of Practice

Division 1 — Compilation of the Code

15. The concept of the Code of Practice

- (1) The Code of Practice shall be divided into Parts, as follows —
- (a) Part 1 — which shall set out the Rules which, subject to section 16, are to have effect as subsidiary legislation and may also set out or refer to conditions that may be imposed on a licence —
 - (i) generally, by regulations or by directions published under section 35(1); or
 - (ii) specifically, by reference to the appropriate Rule in, or in a subsequent direction relating to or endorsement on, that particular licence;
 - (b) Part 2 — containing guidelines, either specifically published by the Council or referred to in accordance with section 60, which —
 - (i) set out the ethics and relevant professional information as to the practices that should govern, and the procedures to be used in and the services to be provided in relation to, the conduct of reproductive technology; and
 - (ii) set out specific terms which are there defined or identified as intended to describe the medical detail or circumstances applicable to a condition or direction that may be imposed in respect of a practice, procedure or licence of a particular kind;and
 - (c) Part 3 — containing notices and other ancillary information that the Council authorises for circulation.

- (2) In so far as is practicable, a Rule shall be expressed in terms likely to be understandable by persons not medically qualified but may, where it is necessary to explain or enlarge upon those terms, contain or refer to medical or other detail either explicitly, by a reference complying with section 60(3), or by reference to —
- (a) appropriate terms specifically defined in the guidelines contained in Part 2 of the Code; or
 - (b) a description, text or requirement included or referred to in those guidelines.
- (3) The Rules may provide that where a person is convicted of a specified offence under this Act the licence of that person, or any exemption held by that person, shall, with immediate mandatory effect and notwithstanding any appeal that may be lodged, be thereby deemed to be —
- (a) cancelled; or
 - (b) otherwise affected in a manner specified in the Rules;
- and effect shall be given to any such Rule but without prejudice to the conduct of any disciplinary action that may be brought under section 38 in relation to the facts disclosed at the proceedings for that offence.
- (4) In any proceedings under this Act —
- (a) the Code, and any particular provision of the Code, shall be an admissible document; and
 - (b) where it is alleged that a person has contravened this Act —
 - (i) a failure to comply with the Rules may be relied on as establishing liability;
 - (ii) a failure to have regard to the guidelines under the Code may be relied on as tending to establish liability; and
 - (iii) proof of compliance with the guidelines may be relied on as tending to negative liability, but, notwithstanding that the failure on the part of a person to comply with the Code may not be the subject of any such proceedings, the CEO in considering any application may, at discretion, take into account any alleged tendency on the part of the applicant not to have regard to the guidelines.

[Section 15 amended by No. 55 of 2004 s. 540; No. 28 of 2006 s. 270(1).]

16. The implementation of the Code of Practice

- (1) A provision of Part 1 of the Code of Practice, whether in the original text or as from time to time amended, shall not have legislative effect, and shall not be taken into account in considering any application or in any disciplinary proceedings under this Act, unless —
- (a) the provision has been promulgated as a proposed Rule, or being a condition is referred to in a proposed Rule;
 - (b) that proposed Rule has been published in the Gazette; and
 - (c) that proposed Rule has, in accordance with subsection (2), been laid before each House of Parliament, within 6 sitting days of such House next following that publication and thereafter has come into operation,
- unless the regulations specifically otherwise provide.
- (2) A proposed Rule required by subsection (1) to be laid before each House of Parliament —
- (a) shall be accompanied by a copy, certified by the Executive Officer as correct, of the relevant excerpt from any condition, text or requirement (within the meaning of section 60(4)) approved or adopted, or referred to in or by the guidelines, for the purposes of that Rule;

- (b) may not be amended, or have its provisions substituted, by resolution of the House;
 - (c) shall be so laid, for 14 sitting days of that House, whether in the same session or during the same Parliament or otherwise; and
 - (d) shall come into operation on a date to be published after the expiry of that period of 14 sitting days in each House, by notice in the Gazette, unless subsection (3) otherwise provides.
- (3)(a) Where notice of motion to disallow any proposed Rule is given in either House the proposed Rule shall not be given effect unless and until —
- (i) the motion has been defeated or the notice or the motion withdrawn; or
 - (ii) if the motion or notice of it has lapsed by prorogation or dissolution, notice of a motion to disallow the Rule has not been given within 14 sitting days of the commencement of sitting of Parliament next after such prorogation or dissolution; or
 - (iii) such further motion has been dealt with in accordance with subparagraphs (i) or (ii);
- (b) Where a resolution disallowing any proposed Rule has been passed by either House that Rule shall be deemed revoked and shall not be given effect.
- (4) Where a resolution disallowing a proposed Rule has been passed under subsection (3), notice of that resolution shall be published in the Gazette within 21 days thereafter.
- (5) The Executive Officer shall —
- (a) ensure that a compiled text of the Code is available from the Council, together with any relevant excerpt from a text or requirement which is referred to in the Code but which was not published originally by the Council; and

- (b) endeavour to ensure that —
 - (i) on any Rule coming into operation; and
 - (ii) on any change to the guidelines being introduced,notice is brought to the attention of licensees likely to be thereby affected, as soon as is practicable.

17. Matters which shall be dealt with by the Code, subject to exception by way of regulations

As a matter of principle but without limiting the generality of section 14(1)(c), in the compilation of the Code of Practice the Council shall prohibit the mixing in the same artificial fertilisation procedure of multiple sources of —

- (a) human gametes;
- (b) human eggs undergoing fertilisation; or
- (c) human embryos,

in such a manner as may create confusion as to the biological parentage of any child born as a result of the procedure.

[Section 17 amended by No. 17 of 2004 s. 12.]

18. Matters which may be dealt with in the Code

- (1) The Code may make provision, and may impose conditions or prohibitions, in relation to the following matters —
 - (a) ovarian stimulation undertaken by a licensee;
 - (b) artificial fertilisation procedures likely to lead to multiple pregnancies;
 - (ca) an artificial fertilisation procedure for implementing a surrogacy arrangement as defined in the Surrogacy Act 2008 section 3;

- (c) the treatment of any human gametes intended for use in an artificial fertilisation procedure;
 - (d) the circumstances in which, the periods and purposes for which, and the methods by which, a human embryo may be kept and maintained outside a human body, or human gametes, a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo may be stored;
 - (e) any treatment or other services to which this Act applies that may be provided by licensees;
 - (f) the donation, use, supply, export from the State, posthumous use, or other dealing in or disposal of, human gametes, human eggs undergoing fertilisation or human embryos by licensees;
 - (g) the privacy of patients, and the conduct of authorised officers, during the carrying out of any inspection or investigation; and
 - (h) the giving or withdrawal of recognition to Institutional Ethics Committees by the Council for the purposes of this Act.
- (2) Subject to the requirements of this Part, the regulations or the Code may —
- (a) establish criteria as to the consent required of participants in prescribed circumstances, as to the qualifications of counsellors and the adequacy of the services provided for counselling, and as to the particular circumstances when counselling should be offered, ensuring that any question as to a consent required or given is decided on a basis of adequate and relevant information, as regards —
 - (i) procedures of different kinds;
 - (ii) the outcome of procedures, with particular reference to the control, possession and disposal of human gametes, a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo; and

- (iii) the type and quality of the treatment or other services, or of any assistance, provided or to be provided, or not likely to be provided, and as to the nature and extent of the information to be supplied; and
- (b) provide for —
 - (i) the obtaining and recording of an effective consent on the part of particular participants; and
 - (ii) the effect of any consent given.

[Section 18 amended by No. 17 of 2004 s. 13; No. 47 of 2008 s. 66.]

- (1) The Council in compiling the Code of Practice shall have regard to the principles set out in section 17 and sections 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26.
- (2) Until the principles referred to in subsection (1) are embodied in the Code —
 - (a) where any of those principles is specifically referred to in directions given for the purposes of this Act, a failure to give effect to it on the part of a licensee may for the purposes of sections 14(3), 29(5)(a) and 39(2)(b) be taken to be a contravention of a requirement under this Act; and
 - (b) otherwise, in so far as any of those principles is relevant to the conduct of a practice or any procedure —
 - (i) effect shall be given to the principle by all persons to whom this Act applies; and
 - (ii) on any application or in disciplinary proceedings, the manner of observance of any such principle is a matter which the CEO and the State Administrative Tribunal may take into account.

[Section 19 amended by No. 55 of 2004 s. 524; No. 28 of 2006 s. 270(1).]

20. Principles applicable to projects of research

- (1) A licence shall not be capable of authorising any research contravening the condition referred to in subsection (3).
- (2) No licensee shall carry out, or authorise or facilitate or become involved in the carrying out of, any project of research —
 - (a) upon or with —
 - (i) human gametes obtained in the course of an in vitro fertilisation procedure or intended for use in an artificial fertilisation procedure; or
 - (ii) a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo whether or not live;
 - or
 - (b) involving any person who is a participant in an artificial fertilisation procedure, unless general or specific approval relevant to that project has already been granted by the Council, or unless specific prior approval from the Council for that particular project of research is sought for in such manner as may be required by the Code or directions, and if the Council so requires is also sought from a specific Institutional Ethics Committee recognised by the Council, and is obtained.

- (2a) Subsection (2)(a)(ii) does not apply in relation to an excess ART embryo except in relation to a use of such an embryo that is an exempt use as defined in section 53W(2).
- (3) Every licence is subject at all times to the condition that any project of research shall be carried out in accordance with the terms of, and any conditions applicable to, the approval given and not otherwise.

- (4) The Council, subject to subsection (5), may under the Code grant general approval to the carrying on by any licensee of a project of research of a kind or in relation to matters specified in the Code, but may impose conditions as to the manner in which the research is to be carried on.
- (5) The Rules or directions may make provision as to —
- (a) the requirements with which a licensee proposing to carry out any research must comply in seeking approval to the proposal, for the manner of submitting that proposal to an Institutional Ethics Committee or to the Council, and for the furnishing by the licensee of a report on that proposal from such a Committee to the Council or the CEO;
 - (b) any requirement for —
 - (i) counselling;
 - (ii) the obtaining from any person of an effective consent,
for the purposes of the research;
 - (c) generally, the ethics and standards that should apply to the carrying out of projects of research by or involving licensees.
- (6) In considering whether to grant approval to a project of research, the Council shall have regard to any decision or report which may have been made by an Institutional Ethics Committee and may adopt a decision or report so made as sufficient grounds for the grant of approval by the Council.

[Section 20 amended by No. 17 of 2004 s. 14; No. 28 of 2006 s. 270(2).]

21. The Code and directions, generally

Without limiting the generality of section 14(1)(c), the Code, or directions, may make provision as to —

- (a) the criteria by which the appropriateness of a proposed artificial fertilisation procedure is to be assessed;
- (b) the means of determining and evaluating the considerations which should or may be taken into account before an artificial fertilisation procedure is commenced, including the diagnostic procedures involved;
- (c) the method by which, and the extent to which, donors or prospective donors of human gametes, human eggs undergoing fertilisation or human embryos are to be assessed or selected;
- (d) the practice and procedures to be carried out in relation to the collection, keeping, use and disposal of human gametes, human eggs undergoing fertilisation or human embryos, or for securing that such eggs or embryos are in a suitable condition for implantation;
- (e) the responsibilities of persons carrying out any procedures to which this Act applies;
- (f) the establishment of a basis for determining questions as to the control of, and the power to deal with or dispose of, human gametes, human eggs undergoing fertilisation or human embryos;

- (k) what, for the purposes of this Act, may constitute an authorised diagnostic procedure in relation to any human egg undergoing fertilisation or human embryo or an approved project of research, or may be carried out or performed in any particular kind of research, and what shall not;
- (m) the assessment of applications seeking approval to carry out any project of research;
- (n) the requirement that prior approval of an Institutional Ethics Committee specified in, or ascertainable by reference to, those Rules, be a condition applicable to any particular practice, kind of practice or procedure or kind of procedure;
- (o) the making, retention and confidentiality of records; and

[Section 21 amended by No. 3 of 2002 s. 73; No. 17 of 2004 s. 15.]

Division 2 — Consents

22. Consents, generally

- (1) For the purposes of the licence condition referred to in section 33(2)(e) —

- (a) the gametes of a person shall not be used, or for such a use be received by a licensee or participant, unless —
 - (i) there is an effective consent, by that person, to the gametes being so used; and
 - (ii) the gametes are used in accordance with that consent;
- (b) the gametes of a person shall not be kept in storage unless —
 - (i) there is an effective consent, by that person, to the storage; and
 - (ii) the gametes are stored in accordance with that consent;
- (c) the gametes of a person shall not be used in an in vitro fertilisation procedure unless there is an effective consent, by that person, to any human egg undergoing fertilisation or human embryo thereby derived being used for a consequential purpose authorised by this Act;
- (d) where the development of an egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo was brought about by an in vitro fertilisation procedure it shall not be kept in storage unless —
 - (i) there is an effective consent, by each person from whose gametes the egg or embryo was derived, to the storage; and
 - (ii) the egg or embryo is stored in accordance with that consent;
- (e) where the development of a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo was brought about by an in vitro fertilisation procedure, it shall not be used for any purpose, or for such a purpose be received by a licensee or participant, unless —
 - (i) there is an effective consent, by each person from whose gametes the egg or embryo was derived, to the use for that purpose;

- (ia) in the case of a use outside the body of a woman, there is an effective consent to the use for that purpose by the woman on whose behalf it is being developed and her spouse or de facto partner, if any;
- (ib) in the case of implantation in the body of a woman, there is an effective consent to the implantation by the woman and her spouse or de facto partner, if any;
- (ii) the purpose is authorised by this Act; and
- (iii) that egg or embryo is used in accordance with that consent, and the Code may make further provision in relation to such, or related, matters.

- (2) Where a consent is given in general terms to the use or storage of human gametes separately, whether human eggs or human sperm, that consent shall be taken to relate to the use or storage of any of those eggs or sperm, and also to any human egg undergoing fertilisation or human embryo derived from the use of the human gametes, for any purpose, save that —
- (a) any such consent may be given subject to specific conditions in its terms; and
 - (b) notwithstanding subsection (4) or that a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo, may have developed which is derived from the use of human gametes the subject of any particular consent, in so far as it relates to any human egg or human sperm that has not been used that consent may be varied or withdrawn, but where a human egg in the process of fertilisation, or a human embryo, has been developed from any human gametes the consent thereafter to be required is not a consent to the use of those human gametes but a specific consent relating to that particular egg undergoing fertilisation or embryo only.

- (3) The terms of any effective consent may from time to time be varied or the consent withdrawn, unless subsection (4) applies, by notice given by the person who gave the consent to the person keeping the human gametes, human eggs undergoing fertilisation or human embryos to which the consent is relevant.
- (4) The terms of any effective consent to the use of any human gametes, a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo can not be varied, and such a consent can not be withdrawn, once the gametes have, or that egg or embryo has, been used.
- (5) A consent to the use of a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo must specify the purposes for which the egg or embryo may be used and may specify conditions subject to which the egg or embryo shall or shall not be used.
- (6) A consent to the keeping of any human gametes, a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo must —
- (a) specify the maximum period of storage, if that is to be less than such limit as may be prescribed or may be determined in accordance with section 24(1)(b); and
 - (b) give instructions as to what is, subject to this Act, to be done with the gametes, the egg or the embryo if the person who gave the consent is unable by reason of incapacity or otherwise to vary the terms of the consent or to withdraw it,
- and may specify conditions subject to which the gametes, or the egg or embryo, shall or shall not remain in storage.
- (7) Before a licensee gives effect to a consent given for the purposes of this Act the licensee shall ensure that each participant has been provided with a suitable opportunity to receive —
- (a) proper counselling about the implications of the proposed procedures; and

- (b) such other relevant and suitable information as is proper or as may be specifically required by the Code or directions, including an explanation of the effect of subsection (3) and subsection (4).

- (8) For the purposes of this Act a consent to the use or keeping of any human gametes, a human egg undergoing fertilisation or a human embryo shall not be taken to be effective unless —
 - (a) it is given in writing;
 - (b) any condition to which it is subject is met;
 - (c) it has not been withdrawn; and
 - (d) those gametes are, or that egg or embryo is, kept and used in accordance with the consent.
- (9) Where a consent required by or under this Act is not given, or is not effective, or is not complied with that matter may be a cause for disciplinary action or proceedings for an offence but does not necessarily affect the rights of any person.

[Section 22 amended by No. 17 of 2004 s. 16.]

23. When procedures may be carried out

- (1) An in vitro fertilisation procedure may be carried out where —
 - (a) it would be likely to benefit —
 - (i) persons who, as a couple, are unable to conceive a child due to medical reasons; or
 - (ia) a woman who is unable to conceive a child due to medical reasons; or
 - (ii) a couple or a woman whose child would otherwise be likely to be affected by a genetic abnormality or a disease; or
 - (iii) a woman who is unable to give birth to a child due to medical reasons and is a party to a surrogacy arrangement (as defined in the Surrogacy Act 2008 section 3) that is lawful;

and

- (b) each of the participants required to do so has given an effective consent; and
 - (c) any persons seeking to be regarded, in applying paragraph (a), as members of a couple are —
 - (i) married to each other; or
 - (ii) in a de facto relationship with each other and are of the opposite sex to each other;
- and
- (d) the reason for infertility is not age or some other cause prescribed for the purpose of this paragraph; and
 - (e) consideration has been given to the welfare and interests of —
 - (i) the participants; and
 - (ii) any child likely to be born as a result of the procedure, and in the opinion of the licensee that consideration does not show any cause why the procedure should not be carried out, but not otherwise.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not require that the benefit likely to result from the procedure involve the pregnancy of a member of the couple who are, or the woman who is, likely to benefit.
