- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1)(e) the gross annual rental value of any real property is —
- (a) if a rental agreement is in force in respect of the property, the gross annual rental payable under the agreement, not counting any amount payable by the tenant in respect of rates, taxes or other charges in respect of the property or in respect of the insurance or other outgoings necessary to maintain the value of the property; or

- (a) has adduced or made; or

- in or in respect of the proceedings, and the saying or doing of that thing does not disqualify the person or persons constituting the Court from sitting or continuing to deal with the case.
- (4) If the Court is unable to bring the parties to a settlement acceptable to all the parties, the Court must deal with the minor case.

28. Minor cases procedure, general provisions

- (1) The Court must deal with a minor case in accordance with the minor cases procedure unless an order has been made under subsection (2) or (3).
- (2) The Court must order that a minor case be dealt with under the general procedure if the case involves any jurisdiction conferred on the Court by a law of the Commonwealth.

  - (b) otherwise —
    - (i) order the counterclaim to be dealt with as a separate case under the general procedure; or

(ii) if the claimant so requests, order the whole of the minor case to be dealt with under the general procedure.

(5) Subsection (4) does not affect the operation of section 9.

29. Proceedings to be private and informal

- (3) The Court may give a party leave to be represented by an agent who is not a legal practitioner —
  - (a) in proceedings, not being the trial of the case, if the proceedings are prescribed by the regulations; or

s. 30

- (b) in the trial of the case, if the Court considers that the party should be given leave so that the party is not unfairly disadvantaged.
- (4) Except in the case of a consumer/trader claim, the Court may give a party leave to be represented by a legal practitioner —

- (5) The Court may give a party to a consumer/trader claim leave to be represented by a legal practitioner —
  - (a) if all parties agree; or
  - (b) if the Court is satisfied that none of the other parties will be unfairly disadvantaged as a result.
- (6) If it appears to the Court that it should give leave for a party to be represented by an agent, the Court —
  - (a) if a particular agent is proposed for its approval, must satisfy itself that the proposed agent has sufficient knowledge of the issue in dispute and is vested with sufficient authority to bind the party; and
  - (b) may give leave subject to any reasonable conditions needed to ensure that none of the other parties will be unfairly disadvantaged as a result.
- (7) If the Court gives leave subject to conditions, the entitlement of a party to be represented by an agent is subject to compliance with those conditions.
- (8) The Court may revoke leave for a party to be represented by an agent if the agent does not conduct himself or herself in a proper manner when representing the party.
- (9) A contravention of this section in a case does not invalidate any order made, or the judgment, in the case.

- (10) Leave given under this section does not authorise an agent who is not a legal practitioner to claim, receive or recover, directly or indirectly, money or other remuneration for representing a party.
