Schedule 1 — Interim Code of Practice for Retirement Villages (No. 2) 2020

[r. 3(1)]

Foreword

An increasing number of retired people are finding the concept of retirement villages attractive. These villages exist in a number of forms with a range of tenures and accommodation types. Different financial arrangements and forms of contract include lease, licence, a right conferred by shares, strata title, or freehold title. Retirement villages also differ widely with regard to the nature of care and other amenities and services that may be available.

The Code, the Retirement Villages Act 1992 and the Retirement Villages Regulations 1992 provide a package for the regulation of the retirement village industry that safeguards the rights of both the residents and the owners of retirement villages, and provides clear guidelines for the industry. The Code sets out the practices that apply to the promotion, sale and operation.] of retirement villages.

[Schedule 1 has not come into operation.]

Division 1 of the Code deals with, and provides information on, general matters such as the meaning of terms used in the Code; the application, general principles and objectives of the Code; the basic rights of residents of a retirement village and the Code's relationship to other relevant legislation.

Division 2 sets out the approvals that must be obtained before any sales promotion of a retirement village is undertaken, and specifies the information that must be disclosed in any advertising or promotional material.

Division 3 sets out the information that must be provided to a prospective resident of a retirement village before the person enters into a residence contract or any service contract with the administering body of the village.

Division 4 specifies the information that must be included in any service contract.

Compare 21 Sep 2020 [00-a0-00] / 01 Oct 2020 [00-b0-00] Published on www.legislation.wa.gov.au

Division 5 sets out the rights and obligations of the administering body and residents in relation to the management and operation of a retirement village, including consultation on the village budget, the provision of quarterly and annual financial statements, the establishment of a residents' committee and the holding of residents' meetings.

Division 6 recognises that disputes may occur in a retirement village and outlines the processes that may be utilised to resolve them, including mediation.

Division 7 explains the rights and the obligations of the administering body and a resident of a retirement village, in relation to the termination of a residence contract.

Division 8 specifies the method of delivery of any written notice, correspondence or other document that must be given under this Code to a resident or the administering body of a retirement village.

Appendix 1 provides a list of questions that a prospective resident should carefully read and consider before deciding to enter any retirement village.

Compliance with this Code

The Code must be complied with and is enforceable by the Commissioner in the State Administrative Tribunal under the Fair Trading Act 2010.

If it appears to the Commissioner that an administering body has not complied with the Code, the Commissioner may apply to the State Administrative Tribunal for an order, and the State Administrative Tribunal may make orders including that —

• the administering body cease contravening the Code; and/or

• the administering body rectify any consequence of that contravention.

An administering body that fails to comply with an order made by the State Administrative Tribunal commits an offence that is punishable by a fine of up to $50 000.

This Code and the Retirement Villages Act 1992 do not apply to residential care services provided by an administering body under the Aged Care Act 1997 (Commonwealth).

Note that under the Fair Trading Act 2010 section 10 this Code binds the Crown.

3. General principles

- The general principles guiding all those involved in the provision of retirement villages and related services are that
- (a) the well-being and interests of residents, together with the rights of administering bodies, must be given due consideration; and
- (b) the freedom of decision and action of each resident must be restricted as little as possible and must be recognised in the relationship between a resident and the administering body of a retirement village; and
- (c)the relationship of residents with their family and past and present communities is important and must be recognised, taking into account the cultural, religious and linguistic background of each resident; and
 - (d) residents must be treated fairly and not be subject to abuse or exploitation.

4. Objectives of Code

The objectives of this Code are to ----

- (a) promote fair trading practices in the provision of retirement villages and related services by setting out the rights and obligations of residents and administering bodies in retirement villages; and
- (b) encourage fairness in the promotion, sale or grant of rights in, and operation of, retirement villages; and
 - (c)require the disclosure of all relevant information to a personwho is considering becoming a resident of a retirementvillage; and
- (d) require contracts for the provision of amenities and services in a retirement village to contain full details of the obligations he administering body taking steps, where appropriate and easonable, to implement requests; and f there is a dispute, the administering body documenting the oncerns raised and actions taken to resolve the dispute; and he administering body establishing processes for regular communication with residents about village matters.

5. Resident's rights

- (1) The administering body of a retirement village must respect a resident's right to privacy in the resident's residential premises, subject to the right of the administering body to inspect the premises as set out in the residence rules and the residence contract.
- (2) The administering body of a retirement village must respect a resident's right to quiet enjoyment of the resident's residential premises and any communal amenities.
- (3) The administering body of a retirement village must respect a resident's right to complete autonomy over the resident's property and personal and financial affairs, subject to any legislative restriction or any other restriction provided for in the residence contract.

Other relevant legislation

The provisions of this Code should be read in conjunction with other relevant legislation. The Retirement Villages Act 1992 and the Retirement Villages Regulations 1992 set out rights and obligations relating to retirement villages. The Fair Trading Act 2010 is applicable to residence contracts and other contracts concerning retirement villages. If residential premises in a retirement village are strata titled, the provisions of the Strata Titles Act 1985 and any relevant by-laws also apply.

The Aged Care Act 1997 (Commonwealth) applies to residential care services provided under that Act by the administering body of a retirement village.

(2)	In this Division, relevant and material have, unless the contrary intention appears, meanings corresponding to the meanings of those terms in the Australian Accounting Standards.
15.	Special resolutions
(1)		s a speci ent villa	al resolution at a meeting of the residents of a age —
	(a)	the res	idents must have been given written notice of the gunder clause 26; and
	(b)		nust be a quorum present (whether in person or by a y proxy) of —
		(i)	a minimum of 5 residents entitled to vote on the resolution or 30% of the number of residents entitled to vote on the resolution (whichever is the greater); or
		(ii)	if the retirement village has fewer than 10 occupied residential premises, a majority of residents entitled to vote;
		and
	(c)		olution must be carried by at least 75% of the number dents who —
		(i)	are present (whether in person or by proxy); and
		(ii)	are entitled to vote; and
		(iii)	vote at the meeting.
(2)	A speci	ial resol	ution —
	(a)		e decided on a show of hands; or
	(b)	may be	e conducted by a secret ballot in accordance with clause	28.
	Special	resolut	ion
	resident signific	ts held i ant issu	ution is a decision made at a meeting of the n accordance with clause 26 on important and es that directly affect the financial or general Il the residents in a village.

The administering body must call a meeting at which a special resolution is to be considered within 20 days after being requested to do so (or at a later date if agreed) as specified in clause 26(5). Clause 26(6) requires the administering body to give at least 10 working days' written notice of the meeting (except in exceptional or urgent circumstances, when 2 working days' written notice may be given).

For a special resolution to pass, clause 15(1) requires a specified quorum of residents to be present at the meeting (either in person or by proxy), and 75% of those residents present, who are entitled to vote and vote, to vote in favour of the resolution. In cases where 2 or more persons occupy the same residential premises, clause 26(12) of the Code provides that each person is entitled to a vote, unless their residence contract specifies otherwise.

Some issues in a retirement village may be dealt with by an ordinary resolution that is passed at a meeting of the residents. Retirement villages legislation does not identify the issues that should be dealt with by ordinary resolution and whether a quorum of residents is required. An ordinary resolution may be passed by a majority (i.e. more than 50% of residents at the meeting in person or by proxy) and may be a method used in a village for making decisions on issues.

The following are matters that must be decided by a special resolution at a meeting of the residents —

- (a) approving the application of any budget surplus in the village to a purpose, other than the future operating expenses of the village, generally of benefit to the residents of that village (clause 20);
- (b) forming an incorporated association to carry out the function of the residents' committee (clause 24(2)(c));
 - (c) dissolving a residents' committee (clause 24(5));
- (d) removing a member of the residents' committee during the resident's 1 year term (clause 24(6));

(e)	collectively applying to the State Administrative Tribunal if a dispute arises between the residents and the administering body regarding an increase in recurrent charges or the imposition of a levy (Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 57A);
(f)	opting out of the requirement that the annual financial statements of the village, presented to residents at the annual meeting be independently audited for the financial year in which the resolution is passed (clause 19(10)). Two matters that must be agreed by special resolution of residents

Two matters that must be agreed by special resolution of residents and with the agreement of the administering body are —

- (a) varying or revoking the residence rules, which cover the rights and obligations of village residents and with which each resident must comply (clause 23); and
- (b) varying the dispute resolution processes prescribed in this Code (clause 30).

16. Management procedures and resident consultation

(1)	The administering bo	ody of a	retirement	village must —

	(b)	a registered company auditor.
(10)	At an a	annual meeting held under clause 26(1)(a), the residents of a nent village may decide by special resolution that the annual al statements of the retirement village, for the financial year in which	the resolution is made, are not required to be audited.
(11)	If the a	administering body administers more than 1 retirement village, the adr	ninistering body must provide separate annual financial statements for each village.

20.	Budget surplus
	The administering body of a retirement village must apply any surplus in the operating budget of the retirement village towards the future operating expenses of that village, except if the residents, by special resolution, approve the application of the whole or a part of the budget surplus to any other purpose or purposes generally for the benefit of the residents of that retirement village.
21.	Marketing of residential premises
	If a resident is required by a residence contract to pay, in whole or in part, the costs incurred by an administering body in marketing or advertising the residential premises that the resident occupies or occupied, the administering body of the retirement village must —
	(a) take all reasonable steps to enable the residential premises to be placed on the market as expeditiously as possible; and (b) commencing 1 month after the residential premises are first placed on the market, provide the resident, or the resident's personal representative, with a monthly written marketing report that details the steps taken to market the premises.
22.	Refurbishment of residential premises
(1)	In this clause — refurbishment work means maintenance, repair, replacement or renovation work carried out in respect of residential premises to return the residential premises to a reasonable condition.
(2)	If a resident permanently vacates the resident's residential premises and is required under the residence contract to pay for, or contribute to, the cost of refurbishment work to those residential premises, the

(1)	The administering body of a retirement village —
	 (a) must hold an annual meeting of the residents of the retirement village within 5 months after the end of each financial year, at which the business to be transacted must be limited to dealing with matters relating to the presentation of the financial statements and the auditor's report (if any) for the retirement village; and
	(b) must hold an annual budget meeting of the residents of the retirement village before the end of each financial year, at which the business to be transacted must be limited to dealing with matters relating to the final budget proposals for the retirement village for the next financial year; and
	(c) must hold a meeting of the residents on the reasonable request of a residents' committee established under clause 24; and (d) must hold a meeting of the residents if requested to do so by —

	(ii) if the retirement village has fewer than 10 occupied residential premises, residents from a majority of the occupied residential premises;
	and
	(e) may hold a meeting of the residents at any other reasonable time.
(2)	If the administering body administers more than 1 retirement village, the administering body must hold a meeting under subclause (1)(a) and (b) for each village.
(3)	If a residents' committee has been established in the retirement village, the residents' committee may of its own volition hold a meeting of the residents of the retirement village for any purpose, other than a meeting that is required to be held by the administering body under subclause (1).
(4)	An administering body must not prevent or restrict a residents' committee from holding a meeting of the residents of the village under subclause (3).
(5)	If a request for a meeting of the residents is made under
(U)	subclause (1)(c) or (d), the administering body must hold the meeting within 20 working days after the request is made, or at a later date if agreed to by the residents' committee referred to in subclause (1)(c) or the majority of the residents who requested the meeting under subclause (1)(d), as the case may be.
(6)	Subject to subclause (7), the administering body or the residents' committee must give each resident at least 10 working days' written notice of a meeting to be held under subclause (1) or (3).
(7)	The administering body of a retirement village may, in extraordinary or urgent circumstances, hold a meeting of the residents by giving written notice of the meeting to the residents if the period of notice is —
	(a) reasonable in the circumstances; and
	(b) not less than 2 working days.
(8)	A notice given under subclause (6) or (7) must set out —
(0)	(a) the time and place of the meeting; and the residents of any special resolution passed at the meeting, the person who chairs the meeting must provide the administering body with the name and contact details of a person who has a copy of the special resolution.

(11)	If an administering body receives a request from a resident for a copy of a special resolution that is passed by the residents at a meeting of the residents, the administering body must —
	(a) if the administering body has a copy of the special resolution, give the resident a copy of the special resolution; or (b) if the administering body does not have a copy of the special resolution, give the resident the name and contact details provided under subclause (10).
(12)	Unless otherwise provided in the residence contract, if 2 or more
(12)	residents occupy the same residential premises in the retirement village, each of them may vote at a meeting of the residents on any matter that requires, or provides for, a vote of the residents.
(13)	A meeting of the residents under this Code must not be held simultaneously with a meeting held under another law, such as —
	(a) a meeting held under the Strata Titles Act 1985 if the retirement village is comprised in a strata plan or survey-strata plan registered under that Act; or
	(b) a meeting held under the Associations Incorporation Act 2015.
(14)	At a meeting of the residents under this clause voting may be by a secret ballot.

(15)	Subject to a	ny other written law, an administering body may —

	Act 2001 (Commonwealth) section 9;
	voting resident means a resident of a retirement village, or the resident's personal representative, who is entitled to vote at a meet of the residents.
(2)	A voting resident may, by notice in writing signed by the resident, appoint a proxy to vote on behalf of the voting resident by way of proxy vote at a meeting of the residents specified in the notice.
(3)	The appointment of the proxy is valid only if the proxy notice is gi to the chairperson of the meeting at which the proxy is to vote before any vote is taken at that meeting.
(4)	A proxy vote can only be in respect of 1 meeting.
(5)	A voting resident may not appoint any of the following persons as proxy unless the voting resident is a relative of the proxy —
	(a) a representative of the administering body of the retirement village;
	(b) a close associate of the administering body of the retireme village;
	(c) a person nominated as a proxy by the administering body the retirement village.
(6)	A proxy notice may, but is not required to, be in the form for the appointment of a proxy set out in Appendix 2.
(7)	A person appointed as the proxy of a voting resident cannot vote o behalf of the voting resident if the voting resident personally votes the matter or matters concerned.
(8)	A person must not be appointed as the proxy of more than 5 voting residents in a retirement village.
(9)	At any time before the exercise of a proxy vote by a person appoint as the proxy of a voting resident, the voting resident may revoke the appointment by giving written notice to —
	(a) the proxy; and
	(b) the chairperson of the meeting at which the proxy was to

28. Voting by secret ballot

- (1) If more than 1 resident or proxy at a meeting of the residents calls for, or supports, a secret ballot in respect of a particular matter to be voted on at the meeting, the vote must be taken by a secret ballot.
- (2) If a vote is to be taken by a secret ballot at the meeting, the method used to take the ballot must ensure that the votes can be counted without identifying how any resident has voted.

Conduct of a secret ballot

Once a residents' committee is established the residents should decide what procedures will apply if a vote is to be taken by a secret ballot. If there is no residents' committee this issue could be dealt with in the rules of a retirement village, or on a case-by-case basis, whenever a meeting of residents is to be held.

If a vote at a meeting of residents is to be taken by a secret ballot there are a variety of options by which the vote can be conducted. For example, a more formal approach would be to contract out the process to the Electoral Commission. Alternatively, votes could be taken less formally by casting a vote on a written ballot paper or by using an electronic voting process (or a combination of these processes).

The Code does not mandate a process; however, to assist residents to work out the process that they may wish to use for taking a vote by a secret ballot, a simple process is provided by way of example below.

The chairperson of the meeting calls for nominations for the position of 'returning officer'. If more than 1 person is nominated, the returning officer may be selected by a majority of residents on a show of hands. If there are an equal number of votes cast, the chairperson may be given the deciding vote. If only 1 person is nominated, then subject to their consent the person may be appointed by a person entitled to vote at the meeting moving their appointment and a second person entitled to vote seconding their appointment.

The role of the 'returning officer' is usually to distribute ballot papers to persons eligible to vote at the meeting and to count the ballot papers to determine how many residents voted in favour of a motion, how many voted against the motion and how many abstained from voting. To the extent that any votes are rejected votes, the number of these would also be recorded together with a reason given for the rejections. The returning officer would then inform the chairperson of the outcome for communication to the resident body.

The role of the chairperson is usually to explain the process and answer any questions about it. For example, the chairperson may read out the motion to be voted on and explain the options for completing the ballot paper. If the ballot papers are blank then the chairperson might read out the motion and then indicate that each resident is to record a 'yes' or a 'no' on the ballot paper. A written copy of the motion may also be provided to each resident. The chairperson may also explain where residents are to put their votes once completed and also what will happen to the votes after the meeting has closed (i.e. they may be kept for a specified period and then destroyed).

Alternatively, if ballot papers have been printed prior to the meeting, then the chairperson may read out the motion to be voted on and the list of alternatives printed on the ballot paper from which each resident is to select their preferred option.

Ordinarily it is also the responsibility of the chairperson to ensure that the Minutes of the Meeting have accurately recorded the process undertaken for the secret ballot and its outcomes.

	Division 6 — Dispute resolution
29.	Terms used
	In this Division —
	approved form means a form approved by the Commissioner for dispute resolution purposes; retirement village dispute means a dispute that occurs in a retirement village between a resident and the administering body of a retirement village, or between residents of a retirement village, but does not include a dispute that may be determined by the State Administrative Tribunal under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 ;
	special resolution has the meaning given in clause 14(1).
30.	Village dispute resolution process
(1)	A resident who considers that a retirement village dispute has arisen must — (a) serve written notice to all other parties to the dispute setting out the matters in dispute and calling on the other parties to rectify or otherwise attempt to settle those matters; and
	(b) advise the administering body of the retirement village that the dispute has arisen.
(2)	If a notice under subclause (1)(a) is served —
	(a) the administering body of the retirement village must nominate a suitable person or body, who is acceptable to all the parties to the dispute, to assist the parties to resolve the dispute; and
	 (b) the parties served with a written notice under subclause (1)(a) must respond to the notice within 10 working days after service of the notice, and give reasons in writing if any of the complaint matters are rejected.
(3)	The parties to the dispute are to —
	 (a) meet in the retirement village, or at any other place as mutually agreed, no later than 20 working days after service of the notice under subclause (1)(a) or, if mutually agreed to by the parties to the dispute, at a later date; and

	(b) attempt to resolve the matters that are in dispute.
(4)	Before the meeting held under subclause (3), the parties to the disput must disclose to each other all documents and information that might reasonably be expected to be material to the resolution of the matters in dispute.
(5)	A resident who is a party to the dispute may be supported by another person at any stage in the dispute resolution process if each party to the dispute is given prior notice of the name of that person.
(6)	Other than for the resolution of the matters in dispute, anything said, done or produced by a party to the dispute during the village dispute resolution process must not be used for any purpose or disclosed or communicated to another person, except with the agreement of that party.
(7)	The administering body of a retirement village must advise any resident who is a party to the dispute of available avenues for the further review of any matter that remains in dispute, including the right to apply for the matter to be mediated under clause 31.
(8)	The village dispute resolution process set out in this clause may be varied if the variation is agreed to by the administering body and passed by a special resolution at a meeting of the residents.
(9)	The administering body of a retirement village or the residents, as the case may be, must not unreasonably withhold agreement to any proposed variation to the dispute resolution process.
(10)	The administering body must, in the circumstances described in subclause (11), make available to the residents a document that sets out the following — (a) the dispute resolution process;
	(b) any variations made to it under subclause (9).
(11)	An administering body must provide to a resident the document described in subclause (10) if —
	(a) advised by a resident under subclause (1)(b) that a retiremen village dispute has arisen; or

31.	Mediation of dispute
(1)	Comm	y to a retirement village dispute may apply to the issioner, in the approved form, to have the dispute referred to ion, unless the matters in dispute —
	(a)	are the subject of an arbitration proceeding that has commenced; or
	(b)	have been the subject of an award (interim or final) in an arbitration proceeding; or
	(c)	are before, or have been decided by, a court or the State Administrative Tribunal or other tribunal of competent jurisdiction.
(2)	The Co	ommissioner may refuse to accept the application if —
	(a)	no attempt has been made to resolve the retirement village dispute using the village dispute resolution process set out in clause 30; or
	(b)	the Commissioner considers that the matters in dispute could be adequately dealt with in some other way, including by negotiation by the Commissioner under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 8(1)(d); or
	(c)	a party to the dispute has not agreed to have the retirement village dispute dealt with by mediation under this clause; or
	(d)	the Commissioner considers that the application should not be accepted for another reason.
(3)		10 working days after receiving the application, the issioner must —
	(a)	if the Commissioner decides to refuse to accept the application, give each party to the dispute written notice of the decision, the reasons for the decision and the right of review under subclause (4); or
	(b)	appoint a mediator to mediate the retirement village dispute and give written notice to the parties to the dispute of —
		(i) the appointed mediator; and
		(ii) the time, date and place for the holding of the mediation.

	mediator, the Commissioner may —
	(a) appoint another mediator who is acceptable to all the parties;
	and
	(b) issue an amended notice under subclause (3)(b).
(9)	The mediator may permit a party to be represented or assisted in the ())	mediation of the retirement village dispute by an agent, other than a lawyer, if the mediator is satisfied that —
	(a) the party is unable to attend, or cannot properly participate in, the proceedings personally, whether on account of illness or otherwise; and
	(b) the agent has sufficient knowledge of the matters in dispute to

	(a) record the agreement in writing and have it signed by or for the parties as soon as practicable after the mediation ends;
	and
	(b) give a copy of the signed agreement to the parties and the Commissioner as soon as practicable after it is signed.
(11)	If, at any time during the course of mediation, the mediator is of the opinion that the parties are not likely to settle the retirement village dispute, the mediator must
	(a) conclude the mediation; and
	(b) notify the Commissioner that the mediation has been unsuccessful.
(12)	Evidence of anything said, done or produced at a mediation is not admissible in a court or before a person or body authorised by law to hear evidence, except with the agreement of the parties to the mediation.
(13)	The mediator or a party, or an agent of a party, must not make a record of, or disclose or communicate to another person, anything said, done or produced at a mediation.
(14)	The mediator does not contravene subclause (13) if —
	(a) the mediator makes notes during the mediation that the mediator considers appropriate and destroys them at the end of the mediation; or
	(b) the mediator records and provides a copy of a mediated agreement under subclause (10).
(15)	Any party may, by written notice (the withdrawal notice) given to the Commissioner, withdraw from the mediation before or after the mediation has commenced.
(16)	The Commissioner must advise the appointed mediator and the other parties to the retirement village dispute of the withdrawal as soon as

32.	Costs associated with dispute resolution process
(1)	If the administering body of a retirement village incurs costs as a result of nominating an employee of the administering body under clause 30(2)(a) to deal with a retirement village dispute, those costs must be borne by the administering body.
(2)	Subject to subclause (1), the costs incurred by any party as a result of complying with the retirement village dispute resolution process under clause 30 must be shared equally between each of the parties the retirement village dispute.
(3)	If the administering body of a retirement village incurs a share of costs under subclause (2), it must not recover any of that share from any resident or former resident (whether or not a party to a dispute).
33.	Costs associated with Commissioner-appointed mediation
	If the administering body of a retirement village incurs costs as a result of the mediation of a dispute set out in clause 31, the administering body must not recover those costs from a resident or a former resident.
(2)	Unless the Commissioner decides otherwise, the costs of the mediation of a dispute under clause 31 must be shared equally between each of the parties to the dispute.
	It is recognised that in any communal living situation, such as a retirement village where amenities are shared, disputes between residents and the administering body, or between residents, may occur from time to time. The Code places particular emphasis on providing easy access to an informal and inexpensive process to resolve disputes. The prevention of disputes through open communication and the provision of information, and democratic decision-making, is always preferable.
	Many disputes are due to simple misunderstandings or lack of suitable information. Every attempt should be made by those involved in a dispute to resolve it between themselves. It may be useful to discuss the problem with a friend or advocate (for example, a member of the residents' committee) before using the dispute processes available under the Code.

If the dispute cannot be resolved within the retirement village, either party can seek the assistance of the Commissioner. The Commissioner can provide information and mediation services to either party to assist in the resolution of the dispute or refer the matter to an independent external mediator.

Division 7— Termination of residence contracts

34.	Notice of intention to terminate
(1)	The administering body of a retirement village must give a resident at least 10 working days' written notice of its intention to apply to the State Administrative Tribunal for an order to terminate a residence contract under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 58 or 59.
(2)	The notice given under subclause (1) must —
	(a) if the application is to be made under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 58, specify the reasons why the residential premises occupied by the resident are unsuitable for occupation by the resident; and
	(b) if the application is to be made under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 59 —
	(i) specify the breach of the residence contract or residence rules, as the case may be; and
	(ii) give the resident a reasonable and specified time to rectify a breach that may be rectified;
	and
	(c) clearly state that the residence contract cannot be terminated without an order by the State Administrative Tribunal; and (d) advise the resident of the resident's right to occupy the residential premises until the State Administrative Tribunal _	fixes a termination date.
	Retirement villages are clearly marketed by the industry as permanent accommodation for their residents. Accordingly, a residence contract may be terminated only in a limited number of circumstances, as set out in the residence contract or the Retirement Villages Act 1002 Retirement Villages Act 1992.

The administering body of a retirement village cannot terminate a residence contract on its own; that is, without the agreement of the resident. However, a resident or the administering body may apply to the State Administrative Tribunal to terminate a residence contract under circumstances as specified in the Retirement Villages Act 1992.

Termination by a resident

The manner in which a resident may terminate a residence contract after the expiration of the cooling-off period is as set out in the contract or the Retirement Villages Act 1992.

Termination by the State Administrative Tribunal

As set out in the Retirement Villages Act 1992 Part 4 Division 5, an administering body may apply to the State Administrative Tribunal to terminate a residence contract on the grounds that —

- the resident's physical or mental health is such as to make the residential premises unsuitable for occupation by the resident (Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 58); or
- the resident has breached the residence contract or the residence rules (Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 59); or
- the resident has intentionally or recklessly caused or permitted, or is likely to intentionally or recklessly cause or permit, serious damage to the residential premises or injury to the administering body, an employee of the administering body or another resident (Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 62); or
- the administering body would, in the special circumstances of the case, suffer undue hardship if the residence contract were not terminated (Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 63).

cl. 34

Under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 57, a resident may apply to the State Administrative Tribunal for an order in respect of a dispute with the administering body as to whether the resident should be transferred to another kind of accommodation in the village. The State Administrative Tribunal may make an order that —

- restrains the administering body from transferring the resident to another kind of accommodation in the village; or
- requires the resident to transfer, or the administering body to transfer the resident, to another kind of accommodation in the village; or
- terminates the residence contract of the resident.

Notice of termination

As required under the Retirement Villages Act 1992 sections 58 and 59, the State Administrative Tribunal must not make an order terminating a residence contract on medical grounds or for a breach of the residence contract or residence rules, unless satisfied that the administering body has complied with the procedures in clause 34 of the Code or the contract for giving notice of the intention to terminate the contract.

The Retirement Villages Act 1992 section 61 gives the State Administrative Tribunal the power to waive the requirement to give this notice if considered appropriate to do so having regard to any special circumstances of a particular case.

Payments on termination

If the State Administrative Tribunal has terminated a residence contract, the State Administrative Tribunal is to fix a date by which the resident must vacate the residential premises.

When ordering the termination of a residence contract, the State Administrative Tribunal may make any order for the payment or refund of money by the administering body to the resident or by the resident to the administering body.

Appendix 1 — Checklist for prospective resident

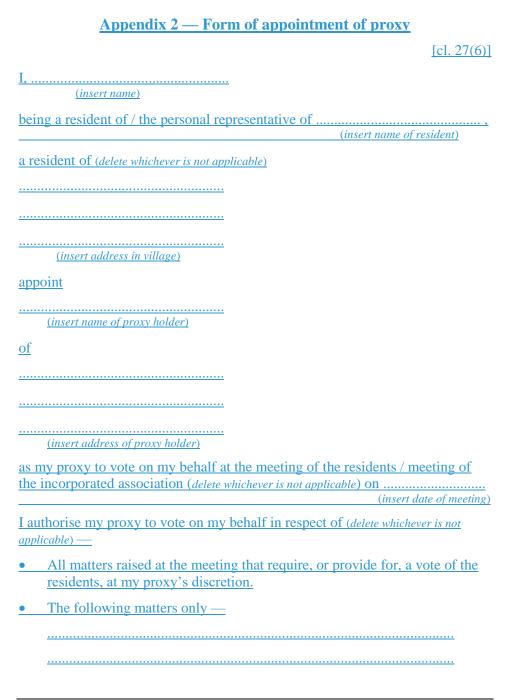

It is important for you to carefully read and consider the following questions before deciding to enter any retirement village. If, after reading through the list, you are uncertain as to any aspects of the village, or its suitability for you, seek further advice.

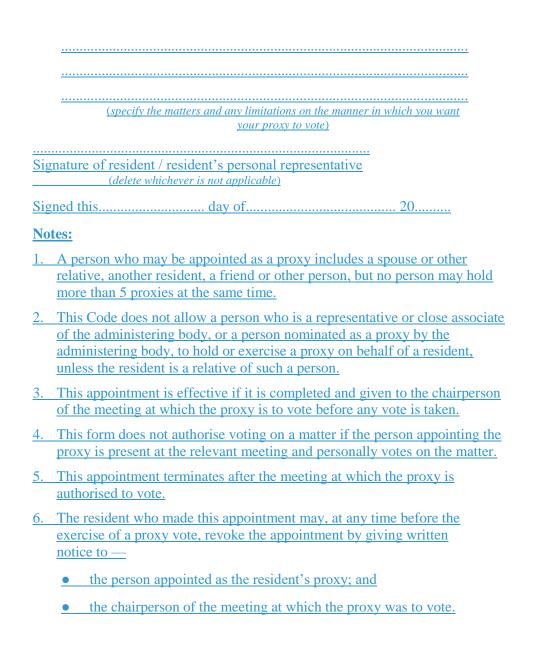

- 1.Have I fully discussed my decision to enter a retirement village with my family, friends or adviser?
- 2. Can I afford to move into the village I have chosen and meet the current and future ongoing costs of living in this village? What are the financial consequences for me if I wish to move out of the village? Have I sought independent advice from a licensed financial adviser on these matters?
- 3. If I am considering moving to a retirement village because the housework, gardening and general maintenance have become too much, have I fully considered other options? For example, obtaining home help or handyperson help, or moving to a smaller unit in the same neighbourhood.
- 4. If I am considering moving to a retirement village because my partner has died, have I given myself enough time to grieve before I make a major lifestyle change?
- 5. Have I received adequate information about the retirement village I have chosen? Have I shown the documents to a solicitor? Am I satisfied that I fully understand the contract that I am signing?
- 6. Am I comfortable that the lifestyle of the village, including communal living, social activities and ethos of the village will suit me? Have I spoken to any residents of the village?
- 7. Will the village and my unit be readily accessible if I become disabled and need a wheelchair or walking aid? What alternatives do I have if I am no longer able to live alone?
- 8. Does the village provide personal care or nursing care, an emergency call system and other amenities that are likely to meet my present or future needs?
