Part 2 — Mining rehabilitation levy

4. Amount of levy

- (1) For the purposes of section 13 of the Act, the amount of levy payable in respect of a mining authorisation in a year is the amount worked out in accordance with the following formula —

$$\text{RLE} \times \text{FCR}$$

where —

FCR is the fund contribution rate of 1%;

RLE is the rehabilitation liability estimate for the mining authorisation for the year worked out under subregulation (2).

- (2) For the purposes of subregulation (1), the rehabilitation liability estimate for a mining authorisation for a year is the amount obtained by —

- (a) for each rehabilitation liability category —

(i) working out the total area of land (expressed in hectares and rounded to at least 2 decimal places) in the area of the mining authorisation that was in that category on the assessment day in that year for the mining authorisation; and

(ii) multiplying the figure worked out under subparagraph (i) by the unit rate that applies to that category;

and

- (b) adding together all of the amounts worked out under paragraph (a).

- (3) Despite subregulation (1), if the rehabilitation liability estimate worked out under subregulation (2) is $50 000 or less, the amount of levy payable in respect of the mining authorisation in the year is nil.

- (4) The rehabilitation liability categories of land in the area of a mining authorisation, and the unit rates applying to those rehabilitation liability categories, are determined in accordance with Schedule 1.

5. Assessment information

- (1) For the purposes of section 15(1) of the Act, the assessment information for a mining authorisation for a year is, for each rehabilitation liability category, the total area of land (expressed in hectares and rounded to at least 2 decimal places) in the area of the mining authorisation that was in that category on a day in that year that is nominated by the holder of the mining authorisation.
