No. 28 of 1906,
s. 107.

107. A deposition taken in any proceeding under Part V. of the Justices Act, 1902, may be produced and given in evidence at the trial of the person against whom it was taken—

See 2 Edw.
VII., No. 11,
s. 109.

- (a) if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Judge that the witness is dead, or out of Western Australia, or so ill as not to be able to travel, although there may be a prospect of his recovery; or
- (b) if the witness is kept out of the way by the person accused; and

- (c) if the deposition purports to be signed by the justice of the peace by or before whom it purports to have been taken, unless it is proved that the deposition was not in fact signed by the justice by whom it purports to be signed.

If there is a prospect of the recovery of a witness proved to be too ill to travel, the Judge shall not be obliged to receive the deposition, but may postpone the trial, discharging the jury, where a jury has been empanelled, if he thinks fit.

108. (1) If a person dangerously ill and unable to travel is believed to be able to give material and important information relating to an indictable offence, or to a person accused thereof, the proceedings described in the next subsection may take place.

(2) If it is made to appear to the satisfaction of any justice of the peace that any such person is dangerously ill and not likely to recover from such illness, and that it is not practicable for any justice of the peace to take a deposition of such person, in accordance with the provisions of Part IV. of the Justices Act, 1902, the justice may take, in writing, the statement on oath or affirmation of such person, and the justice shall thereupon subscribe the same, and add thereto a statement of his reason for taking the same, and of the day and place when and where the same was taken, and of the names of the persons (if any) present at the taking thereof.

How deposition

Ibid., s. 111.

If the deposition relates to any indictable offence for which any accused person is already committed or bailed to appear for trial, the justice shall transmit the same, with the said addition, to the proper officer of the court for trial at which the accused person has been committed or bailed; and in all other cases he shall transmit the same to the police or resident magistrate for the district in which he has taken the same, who shall preserve the same and file it of record.

(3) A deposition taken under this section may be produced and read as evidence, either for or against the accused, upon the trial of any offender or offence to which it relates—

- (b) if it is proved that there is no reasonable probability that the deponent will ever be able to travel or to give evidence; and
- (c) the deposition purports to be signed by the justice of the peace by or before whom it purports to be taken; and
- (d) it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court by the contents of the deposition of the statement of the justice before whom the same is taken attached thereto, or otherwise howsoever,
  - (i) that the person (whether prosecutor or accused) against whom it is proposed to read such deposition, or his counsel or solicitor had, or might have had if he had chosen to be present, full opportunity of cross-examining the deponent, and
  - (ii) in cases where the person against whom it is proposed to read the deposition is not shown to have been present or represented by counsel or solicitor, at the taking thereof, that notice in writing of the intention to take such deposition was given to such person a reasonable and sufficient time beforehand, having regard to the urgency of the circumstances, to have enabled him to be present.
