Spouses Competent to Give Evidence as to Non-Access.

19. In any proceedings including proceedings pending at the commencement of the Evidence Act Amendment Act, 1956, either party to a marriage may give evidence proving or tending to prove that the parties to the marriage did not have sexual relations with each other at any particular time notwithstanding that such evidence would show or tend to show that any child born to the wife during the marriage was illegitimate.

s. 3 (s. 34h).
Cf. No. 73 of 1948, s. 33.

Impeaching Credit of Witnesses.

How far a party may discredit his own witness. See 34 Vict., No. 5, s. 3.

20. A party producing a witness shall not be allowed to impeach his credit by general evidence of bad character, but may contradict him by other evidence, if in the opinion of the Judge he is hostile to the party producing him.

Cross-examination as to previous statement in writing or deposition. Amended by No. 16 of 1913, s. 3. See 34 Vict., No. 5, s. 5.

21. Every witness under cross-examination in any proceeding, civil or criminal, may be asked whether he has made any former statement relative to the subject-matter of the proceeding, and inconsistent with his present testimony, the circumstances of the supposed statement being referred to sufficiently to designate the particular occasion, and if he does not distinctly admit that he made such statement, proof may be given that he did in fact make it.

The same course may be taken with a witness upon his examination in chief or re-examination, if the Judge is of opinion that the witness is hostile to the party by whom he was called and permits the question.

Proof of contradictory statements of witness. See 34 Vict., No. 5, ss. 3 and 4.

22. A witness under cross-examination, or a witness whom the Judge, under the provisions of the last proceeding section, has permitted to be examined by the party who called him as to previous statements inconsistent with his present testimony, may be questioned as to—

- (a) a previous statement made or supposed to have been made by him in writing or reduced into writing; or
- (b) evidence given or supposed to have been given by him before any justice, without such writing or the deposition of such witness being shown to him:

But if it is intended to contradict him by such writing or deposition, his attention must, before such contradictory proof can be given, be called to those parts of the writing or deposition which are to be used for the purpose of so contradicting him:

Provided that the Judge may, at any time during the trial, require the writing or deposition to be produced for his inspection, and may thereupon make use of it for the purposes of the trial as he thinks fit.

23. (1) A witness may be questioned as to whether he has been convicted of any indictable offence, and, upon being so questioned, if he either denies or does not admit the fact, or refuses to answer, the cross-examining party may prove such conviction.

Proof of previous conviction of witness.
Amended by No. 113 of 1965, s. 4 (1).
See 34 Vict., No. 5, s. 6.

(2) A certificate containing the substance and effect only (omitting formal parts) of the conviction for such offence, purporting to be signed by the clerk of the Court or other officer having the custody of the records of the Court where the offender was convicted, shall upon proof of the identity of the person, be sufficient evidence of such conviction without proof of the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed the same.

(3) A fee of fifty cents, and no more, shall be payable for such certificate.

Protection of Witnesses.

24. Except as hereinbefore provided, nothing in this Act shall render any person compellable to answer any question tending to criminate himself.

Questions tending to criminate.
16 Vict., No. 9, s. 3.

25. (1) If any question put to a witness upon cross-examination relates to a matter not relevant to the proceeding, except in so far as it affects the credit of the witness by injuring his character, it shall be the duty of the Court to decide whether or not the witness shall be compelled to answer it, and the Court may, if it thinks fit, inform the witness that he is not obliged to answer it.

Cross-examination as to credit.
Indian Ev. Act. (No. 1 of 1872), s. 148.

(2) In exercising this discretion, the Court shall have regard to the following considerations:—

- (a) Such questions are proper if they are of such a nature that the truth of the imputation conveyed by them would seriously affect the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies.
- (b) Such questions are improper if the imputation they convey relates to matters so remote in time, or of such character that the truth of the imputation would not affect, or would affect in a slight degree only, the opinion of the Court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies.
- (c) Such questions are improper if there is a great disproportion between the importance of the imputation made against the witness's character and the importance of his evidence.

(3) Nothing herein shall be deemed to make any witness compellable to give evidence upon any matter he is now by law privileged from disclosing.

Indecent or scandalous
questions.
See Indian Ev. Act (No.
1 of 1872)
ss. 151, 152.

26. The Court may forbid any question it regards as—

- (a) indecent or scandalous, although such question may have some bearing on the case before the Court, unless the question relates to facts in issue, or to matters necessary to be known in order to determine whether or not the facts in issue existed; or
- (b) intended to insult or annoy, or needlessly offensive in form, notwithstanding that such question may be proper in itself.

27. (1) It shall not be lawful for any person to print or publish any question or inquiry which the Court—

No. 16 of 1905,
s. 15.

- (a) has, under the provisions of the last preceding section, forbidden or disallowed and has ordered shall not be published; or
- (b) has warned the witness he is not obliged to answer and has ordered shall not be published.

(2) Every person who prints or publishes any question in breach of this section commits a contempt of Court, and shall be liable to punishment for such contempt as if the contempt had been committed in face of the Court against which the contempt is committed and on the like proceedings as in such, lastmentioned case.

General Rules of Evidence.

28. (1) The averment or recital in an indictment that the prosecution is instituted by the direction of the Attorney General or of any other Crown Law officer, or at the request of the Government of any State, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, until the contrary is shown.

1902, s. 536.

(3) Any person who knowingly and wilfully signs and presents any indictment which he is not authorised to sign shall be deemed guilty of and liable to punishment as for a contempt of the Court in which such indictment is presented committed in face of the Court.

29. On the trial of a person charged with any offence of which an intent to injure or deceive or defraud, or an intent to enable another person to deceive or defraud, is an element, it shall not be of disputed hand-writing

34 Vict.,
No. 5, s. 8.

31. cases.
C. Code of
1902, s. 642.

32. An accused person, either personally or by his counsel or solicitor, in his presence, may admit on his trial any fact alleged or sought to be proved against him, and such admission shall be sufficient proof of the fact without other evidence.

(c) civil proceedings in or before any tribunal that is not a court.

No. 145 of
1976, s. 4.

36A. (1) Notwithstanding anything in this or any other Act or rule of law to the contrary, but subject to subsection (4) of this section, at a hearing before a court of summary jurisdiction or a children's court to determine whether there is sufficient evidence for a person charged with a rape offence to be committed to a court of competent jurisdiction for trial, no evidence about restricted matters shall be adduced by or on behalf of a defendant, and no question about restricted matters shall be asked in cross-examination by or on behalf of a defendant, except as authorised by leave given in pursuance of this section.

(2) Leave shall not be given except on an application by or on behalf of a defendant which specifies the restricted matters in respect of which it is made; and on such an application the court shall give leave if and only if it is satisfied that the restricted matters in respect of which the application is made are of such relevance to issues arising in the hearing that it would be unfair to the defendant to exclude evidence of those matters.

(3) If on such an application the court is satisfied that it is made wholly or mainly for the purpose of showing that a complainant behaved on a specific occasion in accordance with her disposition in sexual matters, the court shall treat the restricted matters to which the application relates as not being of such relevance as is mentioned in the preceding subsection unless the court is also satisfied that there is such a striking relationship between—

- (a) a way, or matters connected with a way, in which the complainant is alleged to have behaved on that occasion; and
- (b) the restricted matters in respect of which the application is made or matters connected with those matters, as to suggest that her disposition in sexual matters was to behave in a way similar to that in which she is alleged to have behaved on that occasion.

(4) Nothing in subsection (1) of this section requires a particular defendant to obtain leave in respect of the sexual experiences of a complainant with a man other than the defendant, or in respect of her disposition in sexual matters with respect to the man, if the defendant could not, at a trial, be convicted of a particular offence with which he is charged unless it is shown that the man had or attempted to have sexual intercourse with the complainant without her consent or that the man indecently assaulted or attempted to indecently assault the complainant.

(5) In this section and in sections thirty-six B and thirty-six C of this Act—

“defendant”, in relation to a hearing or trial, means any defendant at the hearing or trial whether or not he is charged with a rape offence;

“rape offence” means the offence of rape, the offence of indecent assault, and the offences of attempting to commit, conspiracy to commit or counselling or procuring the commission of, the offences of rape or indecent assault; and

“restricted matters”, in relation to a particular defendant, means any of the following, namely—

- (a) the sexual experiences (of any kind and at any time) of a complainant with a person other than the defendant; and
- (b) a complainant’s disposition in sexual matters excluding her disposition with respect to the defendant; and
- (c) a complainant’s reputation in sexual matters, excluding any matter among the res gestae connected with any offence with which a defendant is charged at the trial, and nothing in this section or section thirty-six B of this Act authorises evidence to be adduced or a question to be asked which cannot be adduced or asked apart from this section.

(6) In this section and in section thirty-six B of this Act—

“complainant” means a woman upon whom, in a charge for a rape offence to which the hearing or trial in question relates, it is alleged that rape or indecent assault was committed, attempted or proposed;

36B. (1) Notwithstanding anything in this or any other Act or rule of law to the contrary at a trial at which a person is charged with a rape offence, no evidence about restricted matters shall be adduced by or on behalf of a defendant and no question about restricted matters shall be asked in cross-examination of the complainant unless leave of the court has first been obtained on application made in the absence of the jury (if any).

(2) The court shall not grant leave under subsection (1) of this section unless it is satisfied that what is sought to be adduced or elicited has substantial relevance to the facts in issue or to the credit of the complainant.

36C. (1) Subject to subsection (5) of this section, after a person is accused of a rape offence no matter likely to lead members of the public to identify the complainant and, in the case of a complainant who is attending a school, no matter likely to lead members of the public to identify the school which the complainant attends, in relation to that accusation shall be published in a written publication available to the public or be broadcast, except by leave of the court which has or may have jurisdiction to try the person accused for that offence.

- (b) in the case of any other publication, the person who publishes it; and
- (c) in the case of a broadcast, any body corporate which transmits or provides the programme in which the broadcast is made and any person having functions in relation to the programme corresponding to those of an editor of a newspaper, shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

(3) For the purposes of this section a person is accused of a rape offence if—

- (a) a complaint is made under the Justices Act, 1902, alleging that he has committed a rape offence;
- (b) he appears before a court charged with a rape offence; or
- (c) a court before which he is appearing commits him for trial on a new charge alleging a rape offence, and references in this section to an accusation alleging a rape offence shall be construed accordingly.

(4) In this section—

“a broadcast” means a broadcast by wireless telegraphy of a sound or visual images intended for general reception, and cognate expressions shall be construed accordingly;

“complainant”, in relation to a person accused of a rape offence or an accusation alleging a rape offence, means the woman against whom the offence is alleged to have been committed; and

“written publication” includes a film, a sound track and any other record in permanent form but does not include an indictment or other document prepared for use in particular legal proceedings.

(5) Nothing in this section prohibits the publication or broadcasting, in consequence of an accusation alleging a rape offence, of matter consisting only of a report of legal proceedings other than proceedings at, or intended to lead to, or on an appeal arising out of, a trial at which the accused is charged with that offence, and the giving of leave in pursuance of this section does not affect the operation of subsection (1) of this section at any time before the leave is given.

- (b) any apparently genuine document purporting to be the bill of lading, manifest, shipping receipt, delivery order, specification, schedule, packing list, or invoice relating to the said property, or to property which from the description thereof in the document or from the writing, printing, or marks thereon, or on any package containing the same as detailed in the document, coupled with any other relevant circumstances, may be reasonably assumed to be the same as the property the subject of the prosecution, shall be admissible in evidence on production and without further proof, and shall be prima facie evidence of the particulars and facts contained therein and that the ownership of the property, the subject matter of the prosecution, is in the consignee referred to in the document or his assignee.

(2) In deciding whether any property described as aforesaid may be reasonably assumed to be the same as the property the subject of the prosecution, regard shall be had to the source from which the document was produced, and the circumstances of its receipt or custody by the person producing it, or from whom it was obtained for the purposes of the prosecution.

(3) It shall be no objection to the admissibility in evidence of any such document as aforesaid that the statement of the place in or from which the stealing took place forms no part of the charge, if the evidence adduced on the prosecution indicates that the stealing did in fact take place in or from a place such as is hereinbefore mentioned.

(2) On the trial of a person charged with any such offence, it shall not be necessary to prove the stealing by the accused person of any specific sum of money, if, on examination of the books of account or entries kept or made by him, or kept or made in, under, or subject to his charge or supervision, or by any other evidence, there is proof of a general deficiency and if the jury are satisfied that the accused person stole the deficient money or any part of it.

73P. Where a reproduction is made of a document in another State or in a Territory of the Commonwealth and would be admissible in evidence in that State or Territory by virtue of any enactment of that State or Territory corresponding with this Division, the reproduction is admissible in evidence in this State in the same circumstances, to the same extent and for the like purposes as it would be admissible in evidence in the first mentioned State or Territory under the law of that State or Territory.

Added by No. 20 of 1966, s. 20.

- (b) where the reproduction does not so show or establish and it is not otherwise so established, the provisions of that Act which relate to documents that are not duly stamped in accordance with that Act are complied with with respect to the reproduction as though it were the document.

(a) if the maker of the statement either—

(i) had personal knowledge of the matters dealt with by the statement;

or

(ii) made the statement (in so far as the matters dealt with thereby are not within his personal knowledge) in the performance of a duty to record information supplied whether directly or indirectly by persons who had, or may reasonably be supposed to have had, personal knowledge of the matters dealt with in the information they supplied; and

(b) if the maker of the statement is called as a witness.

(2) The condition that the maker of the statement shall be called as a witness need not be satisfied if he is dead, or unfit by reason of his bodily or mental condition to attend as a witness, or if he is out of the State and it is not reasonably practicable to secure his attendance, or if all reasonable efforts to identify or find him have been made without success, or where no party to the proceedings who would have the right to cross-examine him requires him to be called as a witness.

(3) The court may at any stage of the proceedings order that the statement shall be admissible as evidence or may, without any such order having been made, admit such a statement in evidence, notwithstanding—

(a) that the statement is tendered by the party calling the maker of the statement;

- (b) that the maker of the statement is available but is not called as a witness;
- (c) that the original document is lost or mislaid or destroyed, or is not produced, if in lieu of it there is produced a copy of it or of the material part of it certified to be a true copy in such a manner as may be specified in the order or as the court may approve, as the case may be.

(4) For the purpose of deciding whether or not a statement is admissible as evidence by virtue of this section, the court may draw any reasonable inference from the form or contents of the document in which the statement is contained, or from any other circumstances, and may, in deciding whether or not a person is fit to attend as a witness, act on a certificate purporting to be the certificate of a registered medical practitioner and the court may in its discretion reject the statement notwithstanding that the requirements of this section are satisfied with respect thereto, if for any reason it appears to it to be inexpedient in the interests of justice that the statement should be admitted.

attached to evidence.

Added by
No. 69 of 1967,
s. 2.

79D. (1) In estimating the weight, if any, to be attached to a statement rendered admissible as evidence by section 79C of this Act, regard shall be had to all the circumstances from which any inference can reasonably be drawn as to the accuracy or otherwise of the statement, and in particular to the question whether or not the statement was made contemporaneously with the occurrence or existence of the facts stated, and to the question whether or not the maker of the statement had any incentive to conceal or misrepresent facts.

(2) For the purpose of any rule of law or practice requiring evidence to be corroborated or regulating the manner in which uncorroborated evidence is to be treated, a statement rendered admissible as evidence by section 79C of this Act shall not be treated as corroboration of evidence given by the maker of the statement.

79E. (1) In any criminal proceedings where direct oral evidence of a fact would be admissible, any statement contained in a document and tending to establish that fact shall, on production of the document, be admissible as evidence of that fact if—

- (b) the person who supplied the information recorded in the statement in question is dead, or beyond the seas, or unfit by reason of his bodily or mental condition to attend as a witness, or cannot with reasonable diligence be identified or found, or cannot reasonably be expected (having regard to the time which has elapsed since he supplied the information and to all the circumstances) to have any recollection of the matters dealt with in the information he supplied.

(2) For the purpose of deciding whether or not a statement is admissible as evidence by virtue of this section, the court may draw any reasonable inference from the form or content of the document in which the statement is contained, and may, in deciding whether or not a person is fit to attend as a witness, act on a certificate purporting to be a certificate of a fully registered medical practitioner and the court may in its discretion reject the statement notwithstanding that the requirements of this section are satisfied with respect thereto, if for any reason it appears to it to be inexpedient in the interests of justice that the statement should be admitted.

(3) In estimating the weight, if any, to be attached to a statement admissible as evidence by virtue of this section regard shall be had to all the circumstances from which any inference can reasonably be drawn as to the accuracy or otherwise of the statement, and, in particular, to the question whether or not the person who supplied the information recorded in the statement did so contemporaneously with the occurrence or existence of the facts stated, and to the question whether or not that person, or any person concerned with making or keeping the record containing the statement, had any incentive to conceal or misrepresent the facts.
