13. (1) Unless some reasonable excuse for non-attendance is shown—

- (a) the parent of every child of not less than six nor more than nine years of age shall, if there is a Government or efficient school within three kilometres of such child's residence, measured by the nearest road or other reasonable means of access, cause such child to attend such school on such days as the school is open;
- (b) the parent of every child of not less than nine years of age nor more than leaving age shall, if there is a Government or efficient school within five kilometres of such child's residence measured by the nearest road or other reasonable means of access, cause such child to attend such school on the days on which the school is open;
- (c) [Deleted by No. 30 of 1952, s. 6.]
- (d) the parent of every child of not less than six nor more than nine years of age shall, if satisfactory means of conveyance to a Government or efficient school is available so that the distance to be travelled by the child on foot does not exceed two kilometres, cause such child to attend such school on the days on which the school is open. The Minister shall be sole judge of the question whether the means of conveyance is satisfactory;
- (e) the parent of every child of not less than nine years of age nor more than leaving age shall, if satisfactory means of conveyance to a Government or efficient school is available so that the distance to be travelled by the child on foot does not exceed three kilometres, cause such child to attend such school on the days on which the school is open. The Minister shall be sole judge of the question whether the means of conveyance is satisfactory.

Provided always, that a continuous attendance of two hours for secular instruction by any child shall count as half a day's attendance; but this proviso shall not justify the absence of a child during any portion of the prescribed time for attendance, or the withdrawal of a child before the prescribed time for closing the school:

Provided also that where in accordance with the regulations a grant, at a prescribed rate per day is made to and accepted by the parent or guardian of a child who rides, drives or is conveyed to school, in lieu of a satisfactory means of conveyance being available, then in such a case a satisfactory means of conveyance shall be deemed to be available within the meaning of paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section.

(1a) A Government pre-primary centre is not a Government school for the purposes of this section.

(2) [Repealed by No. 72 of 1957, s. 8.]

(3) Where the Minister is of the opinion that a child has been sent or is kept away from the place where his parents or one of his parents reside or resides in order to avoid the compulsory provisions of this section the Minister may require the parents or parent of the child to send the child to a Government or other efficient school to which the parents or parent would have been obliged under this section to send the child if the child had resided with the parents or parent from whose place of residence the child has been sent or kept away.

(3a) Without affecting the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, where—

- (a) the place of residence of a child of not less than six years of age nor more than the leaving age, is so situated that the provisions of subsection (1) of this section do not require his parent to cause him to attend any Government or efficient school;
- (b) the child does not attend a Government or efficient school; and

- (c) the Minister is of opinion that the child is not receiving regular and efficient instruction, the Minister may, by notice in writing served on the parent, require the parent to cause the child to attend a Government or efficient school on such days as the school is open.

(3b) A notice served under subsection (3a) of this section continues to have effect until it is revoked by subsequent notice served on the parent, or the child attains leaving age, whichever first occurs.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, the Minister may exempt a child who has attained the age of fourteen years from further attendance at school—

- (a) if the child satisfies the Minister that he is assured of employment and that it is necessary for him to leave school in order to engage in that employment, and the Minister is of opinion that the employment is suitable for the child and the best interests of the child would be served by his leaving school to engage in that employment; or
- (b) if the child has successfully completed two years of secondary education in Western Australia or a course of education that the Minister considers is of an equivalent or higher standard, and satisfies the Minister that he desires to leave school in order to undertake full-time education in a vocational course other than at a Government school or an efficient school, but the exemption in respect of paragraph (b) of this subsection shall apply only while the child continues to receive such full-time education in a vocational course as is referred to in that paragraph.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, where—

- (a) a child wishes to be exempted from attendance at school for a period during which he intends to engage in employment of a nature that is related to his education at the school that he attends; and
- (b) the principal of that school is satisfied that the engaging by the child in that employment for the proposed period would be in the best interests of the education of the child, the Minister may exempt the child from attendance at school for such period as is specified in the instrument of exemption.

(6) Any exemption granted pursuant to subsection (5) of this section may, notwithstanding that the period specified therein has not expired, be revoked at any time by the Minister, and unless so revoked expires—

- (a) upon the expiration of the period specified; or
- (b) when the employment with respect to which it was granted comes to an end, whichever first occurs.

13A. On and after the first day of January, nineteen hundred and sixty-six, the leaving age applicable in respect of any child shall be the age the child attains at the end of the year in which he attains the age of fifteen years; but this section shall not apply to any child who attains that age during the year nineteen hundred and sixty-six unless the child attends school during that year.

No. 57 of
1960, s. 12;
[No. 3 of
1899, s. 7.]

14. Any of the following reasons shall be deemed a reasonable excuse:—

- (a) That a child is under regular and efficient instruction at home or elsewhere of which fact notice in writing has been given by the parents or parent to the Director-General not more than fourteen days after such instruction is commenced or not more than fourteen days after the date when the parents or parent would be in the ordinary course obliged under section thirteen of this Act to send the child to a Government or efficient school; and whether such instruction is efficient or not shall be a matter for the decision of the Minister, who may require the report of a Superintendent of Education thereon.
- (b) That the child has been prevented from attending school by sickness, danger of infection, temporary or permanent infirmity, or any unavoidable causes, but such excuse shall not be entertained unless the parent has given the teacher notice thereof, in writing, within seven days after the occurrence of such prevention, or within such extended time as the court may deem to have been reasonable in the circumstances. A medical certificate must be produced if required by the Minister, or by a person authorised by the Minister to require production of it.

not in attendance at school, and to escort any such child to the parent, or to one of the parents, of the child at his home, but if no such parent is then at that home, to escort the child to the school at which he should be in attendance.

(3) If the court is satisfied that the charge is proved, the court—

(a) may record a conviction and may release the child on probation for such period, not extending beyond the attainment by the child of leaving age, as the court fixes, on such conditions as the court imposes, and in any event on condition that during the period of probation fixed by the court the child shall attend school as required by this Act; in which case the child shall be subject to the supervision of the Education Department, during the period of probation fixed by the court; or

(2) If the court is satisfied that the conditions of probation upon which the child was released have not been observed by the child or the person or persons responsible for him, or that the conduct of that child or those persons whilst he is released on probation has been such as not to warrant continuance of the release on probation, the court may order that the child be no longer released on probation and that he be committed to the care of the Department for Community Welfare until he attains leaving age, or during such shorter period as the court may think sufficient.

18. (1) If a child is habitually absent from school without a reason which is deemed a reasonable excuse under section fourteen of this Act, the parent of such child may be summoned on the complaint of a welfare officer or a superintendent of education, or of any other person authorised in that behalf by the Minister, before a children's court under the Child Welfare Act, 1947, to show cause why such child should not be committed to the care of the Department for Community Welfare under that Act.

- (ii) service as a student pursuing a teacher education course;

- (iii) service as a science teacher exhibitor at the University of Western Australia;

- (a) a teacher may not appeal to the Tribunal as referred to in subsection (3) of this section unless that teacher is one appointed permanently to the teaching staff of the Education Department except that where the recommended applicant is not a permanent member of that teaching staff, teachers engaged in continuous full-time employment in that department may appeal in respect of that recommendation;
- (b) a teacher who has applied for more than one position as prescribed by the regulations shall on his appealing in respect of any of the positions applied for be bound by the order of preference submitted in his application, unless he satisfies the Tribunal that change of circumstances since lodging his application warrant a variation of that order of preference, and the Tribunal shall in hearing and determining the appeal have regard to such order of preference as submitted or varied, as the case may be.
