Amended by
No. 60 of 1953, s. 19.

16. (1) When an inspector has taken possession of and detained any goods under the power conferred by section fifteen of this Act, the goods may be dealt with, as follows:—

(a) The inspector may apply to the court for the forfeiture of the goods to the Crown, and the court may make such order in regard to the goods as they are empowered to make under the succeeding paragraphs of this section.

- (b) If proceedings are taken in respect of the goods for an offence against this Act and the defendant is convicted of such offence, the court, in addition to imposing a penalty, may order that the goods shall be forfeited to the Crown, or that the goods shall be returned to the owner, subject to any conditions which the court may think fit to impose:

Provided that, where the court orders the return of the goods subject to conditions, the inspector shall detain the goods until such conditions have been observed and performed, and, if such conditions are not observed and performed within three months after the date of the order, the inspector, by complaint against the defendant under the Justices Act, 1902 may apply to the court for an order forfeiting the goods to the Crown.

- (c) Where any goods are by order of any court forfeited to the Crown, they shall be disposed of by the inspector obtaining the same on behalf of the Crown in the manner prescribed.
- (d) Subject as hereinafter provided where in any case the court hearing the complaint does not make any order forfeiting the goods to the Crown, the inspector detaining the goods shall return the same to the owner so far as may be known forthwith at such owner's expense:

Provided that, where the court is of the opinion that the owner has acted innocently in the matter and that he has exercised reasonable care to avoid committing an offence under this Act, the court may order that the owner's expenses in connection with the return of the goods shall be paid to the owner.

- (e) If proceedings are taken in respect of the goods for an offence against this Act, and the defendant is not convicted, but it is proved in the proceedings that the goods are of a kind to which the prescribed trade description is required to be applied in accordance with this Act, the Court may make an order that the goods shall be detained by the inspector until the owner thereof gives a written undertaking to the inspector, and security to the satisfaction of a Chief Inspector that the prescribed trade description will be applied to the goods before they are sold:

Provided that, if such written undertaking and security are not given within three months after the date of the order, the goods shall be deemed to be forfeited to the Crown, and shall be disposed of by the inspector on behalf of the Crown in the manner prescribed.

- (f) Where in any case mentioned in paragraph (e) hereof, the owner of the goods gives the undertaking and security mentioned in the said paragraph, the inspector detaining the goods shall return the same forthwith to the owner at the owner's expense.
