Courts and Tribunals (Electronic Processes Facilitation) Act 2013

An Act —

- to provide for the use of electronic technology in relation to court proceedings and certain other proceedings, and the record of court proceedings and certain other proceedings; and
  - to make consequential and certain other amendments to various Acts; and
  - to amend the Fines, Penalties and Infringement Notices Enforcement Act 1994 so that the Fines Enforcement Registry is responsible for the management of the process for the enforcement of the payment of certain fines and other amounts as soon as the fines are imposed or the amounts are payable,
- and for related purposes.

The Parliament of Western Australia enacts as follows:

Part 1 — Preliminary

1. Short title

This is the Courts and Tribunals (Electronic Processes Facilitation) Act 2013.

2. Commencement

This Act comes into operation as follows —

- (a) Part 1 — on the day on which this Act receives the Royal Assent;
- (b) the rest of the Act — on a day fixed by proclamation, and different days may be fixed for different provisions.

3. Crown bound

This Act binds the State and, so far as the legislative power of the State permits, the Crown in all its other capacities.

Part 2 — Provisions facilitating electronic processes in court proceedings and certain other proceedings

4. Purpose of this Part

The purpose of this Part is to provide for the use of electronic technology in relation to —

- (a) court proceedings and certain other proceedings; and
- (b) the record of court proceedings and certain other proceedings.

5. Terms used

In this Part —

electronic includes electrical, digital, magnetic, optical, electromagnetic, biometric and photonic;

give includes serve, deliver, send, transmit, provide, issue, notify, inform, advise, furnish, produce, make available or any other similar word or expression;

lodge includes file and register;

person includes a court;

seal includes stamp;

writing, without limiting the definition of that term in the Interpretation Act 1984 section 5, includes any other similar word or expression (for example, paper or instrument).

6. Application of this Part

- (1) This Part applies to the following Acts —

- (a) the Bail Act 1982;
- (b) the Children's Court of Western Australia Act 1988;
- (c) the Civil Judgments Enforcement Act 2004;
- (d) the Criminal Appeals Act 2004;
- (e) the Criminal Injuries Compensation Act 2003;

s. 7

---

- (f) the Criminal Law (Mentally Impaired Accused) Act 1996;
  - (g) the Criminal Procedure Act 2004;
  - (h) the High Risk Serious Offenders Act 2020;
  - (i) the District Court of Western Australia Act 1969;
  - (j) the Evidence Act 1906 (other than section 19B);
  - (k) the Fines, Penalties and Infringement Notices Enforcement Act 1994;
  - (l) the Magistrates Court Act 2004;
  - (m) the Prohibited Behaviour Orders Act 2010;
  - (n) the Restraining Orders Act 1997;
  - (o) the Sentencing Act 1995;
  - (p) the State Administrative Tribunal Act 2004;
  - (q) the Supreme Court Act 1935;
  - (r) the Young Offenders Act 1994.
- (2) This Part also applies to other written laws in accordance with section 20(1) and (2).

[Section 6 amended: No. 29 of 2020 s. 121.]

7. Where writing required or authorised

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a matter or thing is required to be in writing, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the matter or thing is recorded electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a matter or thing is permitted to be in writing, the matter or thing may be recorded electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

8. Lodging documents

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document lodged with a court or tribunal is required to be in writing, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the document is lodged electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document lodged with a court or tribunal is permitted to be in writing, the document may be lodged electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (3) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, an original or certified document is required to be lodged with a court or tribunal, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if a copy of the document is lodged electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (4) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, an original or certified document is permitted to be lodged with a court or tribunal, a copy of the document may be lodged electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

9. Keeping records

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document or record is required to be kept or maintained in written form, or a record is required to be made in written form, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the document or record is kept or maintained or, as the case requires, the record is made in electronic form in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document or record is permitted to be kept or maintained in a written form, or a record is permitted to be made in written form, the document or record may be kept or maintained or, as the case requires, the record may be made in electronic form in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

10. Signatures, seals and certificates

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document is required to be signed, certified or sealed by any person, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the document is authenticated in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a document is permitted to be signed, certified or sealed by any person, the document may be authenticated in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (3) Any provision of an Act to which this Part applies that provides that, or to the effect that, a document is evidence, or may be tendered in evidence, without proof of a signature, certificate or seal, or without calling the person who signed, certified or sealed the document, applies with all necessary changes to and in relation to a document that is authenticated in accordance with subsection (1) or (2) as if the reference to a signature, certificate or seal were a reference to authentication.
- (4) Any provision of an Act to which this Part applies that provides that, or to the effect that, the signature on any document is presumed to be the signature of the person who issued the document, or that judicial notice is to be taken of a person's signature, applies with all necessary changes to and in relation to a document that is authenticated in accordance with subsection (1) or (2) as if the reference to a signature were a reference to authentication.

11. Endorsing, recording or attaching information or documents

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, any information, note, statement, certificate, acknowledgment or other document, record or matter is required to be endorsed or recorded on, or attached or annexed to, any document, and that document is in electronic form, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the information, note, statement, certificate, acknowledgment or other document, record or matter is incorporated electronically in, or associated electronically with, the document in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, any information, note, statement, certificate, acknowledgment or other document, record or matter is permitted to be endorsed or recorded on, or attached or annexed to, any document, and that document is in electronic form, the information, note, statement, certificate, acknowledgment or other document, record or matter may be incorporated electronically in, or associated electronically with, the document in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

12. Giving or obtaining information, documents and records

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, any information, document or record, or a copy of any document or record, is required to be given to, or obtained by, any person in written form, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the information, document, record or copy is given to or, as the case requires, obtained by the person in electronic form in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, any information, document or record, or a copy of any document or record, is permitted to be given to, or obtained by, any person in written form, the information, document, record or copy may be given to or, as the case requires, obtained by the person in electronic form in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (3) An example of the operation of subsection (1) is where a provision requires a copy of a document to be sent to a person,

and rules of court provide for that person to be able to access the document on a computer system.

- (4) Subsection (1) does not apply in relation to a provision of an Act to which this Part applies to the extent that the provision requires any information, document or record, or a copy of any information, document or record, to be personally served on a person or personally given to a person.
- (5) Nothing in this section limits or affects the power of a court or tribunal to order or authorise any information, document or record, or a copy of any document or record, to be given to any person in any particular way.

13. Original documents

- (1) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, the original of a document is required to be given to any person, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the document given to the person is a copy of the document produced from an electronic version of the document in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, the original of a document is permitted to be given to any person, the document given to the person may be a copy of the document produced from an electronic version of the document in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (3) An example of the operation of subsection (1) is where a provision requires a police officer to serve a summons on a person, and rules of court provide for an electronic copy of the summons to be sent to a police officer, and for that police officer to print out a copy of the summons and give it to the person required to be served.

14. Address for service

- (1) In this section —
address for service, in relation to a person, includes an address at which documents may be given to, or accepted on behalf of, the person.
- (2) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a person is required to give an address for service, that requirement is to be taken to be satisfied if the person gives an electronic address (for example, an email address) in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.
- (3) If, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a person is permitted to give an address for service, the person may give an electronic address (for example, an email address) in accordance with any regulations or rules of court.

15. Approving forms and other documents

If a provision of an Act to which this Part applies authorises or requires the approval of a form or other document —

- (a) that provision is to be taken to authorise both the approval of a printed form or document and the approval of a means of completing the form or document electronically in accordance with any regulations or rules of court; and
- (b) it is not necessary that the content and layout of the printed form or document and the means of completing the form or document electronically are identical, as long as the form or document, when completed by either means, is to the same effect.

16. Prescribing forms and other documents

If a provision of an Act to which this Part applies authorises or requires a form or other document to be prescribed —

- (a) that provision is to be taken to authorise both the prescribing of a printed form or document and the

prescribing of a means of completing the form or document electronically; and

- (b) it is not necessary that the content and layout of the printed form or document and the means of completing the form or document electronically are identical, as long as the form or document, when completed by either means, is to the same effect.

17. Production of records kept electronically

- (1) This section applies if, under a provision of an Act to which this Part applies, a person who keeps a record of information in electronic form is required —
  - (a) to produce the information or a document containing the information to a court, tribunal or person; or
  - (b) to make a document containing the information available for inspection by a court, tribunal or person.
- (2) If this section applies then, unless the court, tribunal or person otherwise directs —
  - (a) the requirement obliges the person to produce or make available for inspection, as the case may be, a document that reproduces the information in a form capable of being understood by the court, tribunal or person; and
  - (b) the production to the court, tribunal or person of the document in that form complies with the requirement.

18. Status and effect of things done electronically or in electronic form

- (1) If, in reliance on a provision of this Part, something is done electronically when it would otherwise be required to have been done, or could have been done, using or with respect to a paper document, the doing of that thing electronically has the same effect as if that thing had been done using or with respect to a paper document.

- (2) If, in reliance on a provision of this Part, something takes an electronic form when it would otherwise be required to be, or could be, in the form of a paper document, that thing has the same effect as if it were a paper document.
- (3) Without limiting subsection (1) or (2) —
  - (a) a document that is authenticated in accordance with section 10(1) or (2) has the same effect as a document that has been duly signed, certified or sealed; and
  - (b) a copy of a document that is produced from an electronic version of the document in accordance with section 13(1) or (2) has the same effect as the original.

19. Relationship with other laws relating to electronic processes

- (1) This Part is in addition to, and not in substitution for —
  - (a) the Electronic Transactions Act 2011; and
  - (b) a provision of any other written law (including a provision of an Act to which this Part applies) that authorises or permits the use of electronic processes for the purposes of an Act to which this Part applies.
- (2) The fact that this Part does not apply to a particular Act does not imply that that Act does not authorise or permit the use of electronic processes for the purposes of that Act.
- (3) Nothing in this Part limits the operation of any of the following —
  - (a) the Freedom of Information Act 1992;
  - (b) the Interpretation Act 1984 section 76;
  - (c) the State Records Act 2000.

20. Power to make regulations and rules of court extended

- (1) If a provision of an Act to which this Part applies or any other written law empowers the making of any regulations or rules of court for the purposes of an Act to which this Part applies, that power is to be construed (with all necessary changes) as

including a general power to make regulations or rules of court for the purposes of this Part.

- (2) If a provision of an Act to which this Part applies empowers the making of any regulations or rules of court for the purposes of another Act, and this Part does not apply to the other Act, that power is to be construed (with all necessary changes) as including a general power to make regulations or rules of court for the purposes of this Part as if this Part applied to the other Act.
- (3) Without limiting subsection (1) or (2) or any other written law, the power conferred by subsection (1) or (2) includes power to make regulations or rules of court in relation to the use of electronic technology in particular circumstances even though no regulations or rules of court are required with respect to the use of written information, documents or records in the same or similar circumstances.
- (4) Without limiting subsection (1) or (2) or any other written law, the power conferred by subsection (1) or (2) to provide that any information, document or record, or a copy of any document or record, is to be or can be given to a person in electronic form includes power to determine when information or a document, record or copy given to a person in that form is to be taken to be, or to be presumed to be, received by, or brought to the attention of, the person.
